March Storm Lashes Hudson Valley

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON — Just when it appeared that winter was well on its way down the drain, a major coastal storm lashed into the area with snow, sleet, freezing rain and high winds.

All Ulster County schools were closed today. A number of highway accidents resulting from snow slicked roads were reported late Tuesday and early today.

More than five inches of winter white blanketed Kingston this morning and further accumulations were anticipated before the stalled mid-March mixture moved out to sea. City Public Works crews started salting operations at the beginning of the storm Tuesday afternoon, breaking out the plows along the emergency snow routes at 11 p.m. Charles J. Cole, superintendent of the Board of Public Works said today that plowing and salting crews would continue through today. He noted that all other BPW services were operating on schedule including refuse collections. Cole predicted that streets would be slippery tomorrow also as temperatures are expected to dip overnight and intersections although groomed have become hard-packed by traffic.

Although the storm included, at various times, freezing rain, heavy wet snow and high winds, power lines remained in place and Central Hudson spokesman Minford Overfield said today that no problems had been experienced by the utility firm.

The majority of traffic mishaps were of the fender bender variety. However, skidding vehicles caused some personal injury accidents. Three persons were injured in a two-car collision on County Road 23B, Town of Catskill, at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. Leeds troopers reported a car driven by Irene P. Prince, 60, of South Cairo, was westbound when the vehicle crossed into the opposite lane and was in collision with a vehicle operated by Marvin Rubinger, 36, of Tannersville.

The woman suffered lacerations, a broken leg and hip injuries. A passenger in her car, Josephine Miller, 39, of South Cairo, sustained lacerations of the face and legs. Prince received facial cuts, according to a report of Trooper R. C. Reilly.

Kingston police reported a car driven by Wayne S. Handschuh, 17, of RD 5, Box 257, Kingston, was traveling on the Boulevard at 3:10 p.m. when his vehicle skidded on snow slick pavement and hit a railroad crossing light post. The youth was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for lacerations of the head and left wrist.

The sheriff's office investigated a mishap involving an oil tank truck that occurred on Route 32 about one mile north of Main Street, Glasco. Deputy Sheriff Richard Bockelman reported the truck was northbound when it skidded back and forth across the highway before hitting a tree. The operator, James I. Clariante, 75, of Box 596 Glasco, received injuries of both legs. The accident occurred at 2:30 p.m.

Up to seven inches of snow fell in other county areas including Belleaire Ski Center and at Cooper Lake. Gene Pettet, reservoir official at the Kingston water supply, said that conditions were normal in the water level for this time of year despite the seeming lack of snow earlier this season. "Plenty of water" was his report for the Mink Hollow section.

Norwood Locke of the Kingston city engineer's office noted that Tuesday was the anniversary of the final day of the Blizzard of '88. This year's storm could not be compared, of course, but served as a reminder that although spring arrives officially at 7:22 a. m. March 20 blossoms and birds may be farther in the future.

Other sections of New York State were harder hit by the late-winter mess. In Albany 10 inches of snow had fallen by morning and another four to five inches was predicted.

Kingston police reported a car driven by Wayne S. Handschuh, 17, of RD 5, Box 257, Kingston, was traveling on the Boulevard at 3:10 p.m. when his vehicle skidded on snow slick pavement and hit a railroad crossing light post. The youth was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for lacerations of the head and left wrist.

VICTORY KISS—Gov. George Wallace gets a kiss from his wife Cornelia after he was named winner in the Florida Presidential primary. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Dem Race Scrambled After Wallace Landslide

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Democratic presidential campaign has been scrambled by a Florida primary in which Gov. George C. Wallace won by a landslide. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey claimed victory in second place and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie suffered a drubbing. Humphrey, declaring himself the leader of the national Democrats after Tuesday's primary, said, "We now have a whole new ball game."

Wallace, who rode to victory on his opposition to school busing and his pledges to bear down on crime and tax the wealthy, proclaimed he can now capture the Democratic presidential nomination. With his 42 per cent of the Democratic vote, he won 75 of the state's 81 delegates to the party's national convention. Humphrey won six with his 18 per cent.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington finished third with 13 per cent, ahead of Muskie with his 9 per cent, and vowed to win the April 4 Wisconsin primary.

New York Mayor John V. Lindsay won 7 per cent—barely edging Sen. George S. McGovern for fifth place after a heavy investment here in time and money. McGovern took 6 per cent.

In the Republican primary, President Nixon swept to victory with 87 per cent of the vote and easily won all 40 delegates to the GOP National Convention. The Democratic primary left the party's top contenders with these prospects:

—Muskie: The preprimary frontrunner, he suffered a second successive blow after last week's lackluster victory in New Hampshire. The primaries in Illinois next Tuesday and later in Wisconsin now loom as crucial.

—Humphrey: Fighting to overcome a "loser" image, the former vice president got the boost he sought when he by-passed New Hampshire to concentrate here. He appears to be Muskie's main rival in Wisconsin.

—Wallace: The Alabama governor got the heavy vote he sought and will now enter many other primaries, both in the South and in Northern states such as Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland.

"I believe I have as good a chance as anyone to win the party nomination," he said at his Orlando headquarters.

Humphrey won his six delegates in a district including heavily Jewish Miami Beach, where half the population is over 65. Among the progressive Democrats, the 1968 nominee said, "I am the leader." The top six Democrats who ran in Florida, including Wallace, are entered in the Wisconsin primary. McGovern is challenging Muskie for many Illinois delegates, while former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota opposes the Maine senator in that state's presidential preference vote.

Strong Protest Against Forced Busing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida voters heeded Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's call to tell America loud and clear that they oppose busing school children to achieve racial balance in classrooms.

By a 3-1 margin, the voters in a straw vote referendum Tuesday endorsed a proposed constitutional amendment to end forced busing.

Wallace ran an antibusing campaign in Florida's Democratic presidential primary and thousands of the voters endorsed him, too. He won the primary with 42 per cent of the vote.

In another part of the non-binding straw vote which involved Republicans and Democrats, Floridians approved by a 4-1 margin a proposal which endorsed equal education for all children.

And they voted by the same margin for allowing prayer back into the public schools.

With 99 per cent of the vote tallied, 1,103,856 voted for a busing amendment while 386,724 voted against it, 74 to 26 per cent.

The equal education question, which also asked voters if they opposed a return to a dual school system, passed by a vote of 1,065,393 to 289,839, or 79 to 21 per cent.

The call for prayer in public schools was approved by 1,133,079 voters with 294,848 rejecting it, also 79 to 21 per cent.

Florida's Democratic governor, Reubin Askew, campaigned hard to turn the tide on the busing question and was disappointed that his constituents failed to heed his plea.

But he said:

"I am very happy and pleased that as a majority of Floridians registered opposition to busing, they also registered commitment to seek other alternatives and not go back to a dual school system."

After the Florida Legislature passed a bill placing the busing straw vote on the primary ballot, Askew refused to sign the measure until the equal education question was added in an effort to ease some of the busing vote's sting. The prayer question also was added but never was much of an issue.

Black leaders across the state assailed the legislature for putting busing on the ballot and said the neighborhood schools issue was a smokescreen for an attempt to resegregate schools which court orders had integrated.

State Sens. Richard Deeb, R-St. Petersburg, and Charles Weber, R-Fort Lauderdale, sponsors of the busing straw vote, said they believed it would open the eyes of Congress to the need for national action to halt busing.

While they criticized Congress for allowing busing to continue, Askew criticized

Hussein Announces Plans For New Federal State

AMMAN (UPI) — King Hussein of Jordan announced a major reorganization of his country's government today, a move that some diplomats hoped could lead to a peace settlement with Israel.

The 37-year-old monarch said he planned to reorganize his Hashemite kingdom into a federal state known as the United Arab Kingdom.

Involved both parts of Jordan—the part east of the Jordan River and the west bank section that has been controlled by Israel since the end of the 1967 war.

"Amman will be the central capital and the capital of the Jordanian region and Jerusalem will be the capital of the west bank. The king will be head of state, assisted by a central council of ministers," said Hussein. The new state, he added, "will have a single army."

Hussein did not say what part Israel would play in the matter since it now controls all of what formerly was Jordan west of the Jordan River, including Jerusalem.

Earlier reports of Hussein's plan indicated he would give some autonomy to the west bank in the hopes Israel would be willing to pull its forces out of the area, thus reaching some form of peace settlement with Jordan.

Hussein said his plan "collects but does not disperse, it strengthens but does not weaken, it unifies but does not disintegrate." He added that it was a "move into a new stage based on liberation."

Hussein, addressing 500 political leaders in the royal palace in Amman, said legislation to restructure his kingdom along federal lines will be sent immediately to parliament.

He also issued a stern warning that any attempt to stop his plans from being carried out would be quickly dealt with.

"Any attempt to cast doubt on all of this will be tantamount to treason against the unity of the kingdom and against the cause," he said.

A government spokesman speaking after Hussein's announcement was even harder in his pronouncements. He said that in addition to the west bank, "the federation will include any part of Palestine we can liberate, for instance Haifa." Haifa is part of Israel.

The spokesman denied any peace agreement between Jordan and Israel—"This was an Israel plot to maintain the fragmentation of the Arabs."

He also denied that Jordan held clandestine meetings with Israel, as had been reported in some newspapers.

(In Jerusalem, there was no official reaction from the Israeli government. Political sources said Prime Minister Golda Meir will make a statement to parliament Thursday.)

After Missing for 25 Months, Mail Car Found on Side Track

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Everyone was red-faced.

A postal inspector walking down a railroad siding found a missing mail car that Penn Central's sophisticated computers had overlooked for 25 months.

The U.S. Postal Service blamed Penn Central. The railroad blamed the Birmingham Post Office.

The car containing 319 sacks of mail was found by the inspector March 6, officials said Tuesday.

"He just walked up to it on an obscure side track at Perryville, Md., near a bridge over the Susquehanna River," said Leroy Greene, director of communications for the service's southern region.

The mail—mostly parcel post from mail order firms or third class items such as books, library film and advertisements—was bound for Birmingham and distribution in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Greene said that delivery would begin today. He said each package will be accompanied by a letter of apology from H. W. Egerton, officer in charge of the Birmingham Post Office.

But Greene said the postal service is blaming the troubled Penn Central Railroad for the snafu.

"They will be fined substantially, you can be assured of that," he said. "This was delayed through no fault of the U.S. Postal Service. There was nothing we could do about it."

However, a Penn Central spokesman in Philadelphia contended that the postal service failed to notify the railroad that the car was missing.

"Under rules and regulations in effect at that time, railroads depended on postal authorities at destination to advise when a car did not reach its destination," the spokesman said. "Noisaid."

such notification was received from postal officials in Birmingham by Penn Central.

"In fact, discovery of the loaded car by Penn Central ... was reported to the post office by Penn Central last week," he said.

"I've never heard of anything like this," Greene said, "and, frankly, some of the old timers in the department are chuckling up their sleeves at this happening in the computer age."

"Penn Central's computers were supposed to be able to tell at any given minute where any car in its system was, but they couldn't find this one," Greene

FANN'S BURGLARY — Owners of Fann's Department Store in the Rosendale Shopping Center today continued an inventory to determine the exact amount of loot stolen during a burglary Monday night or early Tuesday. John Tratoras, proprietor, estimated the value of merchandise stolen about $10,000. He noted that the thieves "cleaned out" the ammunition stock and also made off with between 300 and 400 wrist watches, a large supply of electric shavers, cameras, cigarette lighters and an assortment of other merchandise. Investigators reported the store was entered by smashing through the front door. Indications were that the burglars left the area in a hurry. Tratoras said that when he opened the store yesterday morning he noticed several articles of merchandise on the ground outside the building. The sheriff's office and Town Police are continuing their investigation. Photo shows interior area of the store where merchandise, including air pistols, was disarranged by the intruders and scattered on the floor. The inventory was expected to be completed later today.

Second Ellenville Patrolman Resigns, . . . Cites Local Media Exposure

By CARL GRAHAM

ELLENVILLE — Ronald K. Krom, one of four Ellenville policemen suspended for alleged misconduct has submitted his resignation from the village's police department effective immediately.

In a statement released by James Murray, his attorney Krom blamed news media coverage of charges against him for "making it impossible for me to function as a patrolman in the village of Ellenville."

Krom is the second of the four men to resign from the Ellenville department. Patrolman Anthony Yerkes who only faced departmental charges turned in his resignation last Friday, also charging that publicity given to his case by news media had been responsible for his decision.

A scheduled departmental trial was called off by stipulation between his attorney and Village Attorney Alex J. Nirenberg.

"I am also sure," Krom's statement continued, "that while I defended the charges and have been exonerated by the courts, that the publicity surrounding those charges would prevent me from doing an effective job for the people of Ellenville."

"I further maintain, as I have throughout the entire matter, that I am not guilty of any misconduct." Krom noted that he had served in Vietnam and was honorably discharged from the service, that he had served the village, had held other jobs "and at no time have I been convicted of any crime. I feel that to continue in my position as a police officer in the village would only result in further publicity by the news media which would affect myself, my family, and my job."

Krom, 25, who has been on the force about two years, was suspended February 7 along with Detective Charles B. Freer and Patrolman Carl B. Mayer. Freer has been indicted by the Ulster County Grand Jury on two counts of endangering the welfare of a minor and is awaiting arraignment in county court. The charges stem from his alleged taking of nude photographs of a 16-year-old Ellenville girl.

Third degree rape charges against Mayer and Krom for alleged relations with the same girl were dismissed in Ellenville Court by Acting Village Justice Joseph Friedman for lack of evidence.

Krom was also charged with second degree sale of a dangerous drug, allegedly involving the girl in question, failing to report evidence of wrongdoing to a fellow officer until it was too late to investigate, and four counts of "gross insubordination."

Murray said that Krom had been scheduled to appear for a departmental hearing Thursday.

Mayer was dismissed from the police department on March 8 after a departmental hearing in which he was found guilty of

Search for New President Continues at Paltz College

By JON POWERS

NEW PALTZ — More than 40 applications have already been received as the search continues for a new president to administer the State University College at New Paltz.

A committee of students, administrators, a civil service employee and College Council members met for the second time recently and discussed the criteria it will use in the selection of a new president.

Dr. John J. Neumaier, current president of the New Paltz college, announced his resignation last year, effective September, 1972.

Lawrence A. Quilty, a Kingston businessman and chairman of the College Council, said the committee has already begun its search for possible presidential candidates. In addition, a number of applications have been received from persons from throughout the United States, including one from California.

At last week's committee meeting, Joseph Ratau, a professor and Neal Ryder, a student, submitted a proposal outlining criteria to be applied in the selection process. Among the characteristics the committee is seeking in a new president are administrative flexibility, scholarly achievement and personal integrity.

The selection committee is comprised of three students, five faculty members, three administrators, a representative of the Civil Service Employees Association and three College Council members, in addition to Quilty.

The three members of the council serving on the committee are John Vorisek, a New York City businessman; Joseph D. Saccoman, an attorney and former Kingston City Judge; and Mrs. Annunziata Costa, of Newburgh, a member of the Board of Trustees of Mt. St. Mary College.

Members of the committee were selected by their peers. "This is the first time in New York State that the selection of a college president has been conducted so openly," said Quilty.

The committee, which will meet once a week until a new president is selected, has already begun to "sift through" the pile of applications. The committee will reduce the field to the several applicants most qualified, and the final decision will then be made by the nine members of the College Council.

Quilty has said that the council hopes to select a new president before the fall semester begins in September, although no definite deadline has been established.

Harry W. Porter, Provost of the New York State University System, attended last week's meeting in an advisory capacity.

Howard Hughes Leaves Nicaragua, Destination Is Still Unknown

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Howard Hughes has left his latest hideout. Destination: Unknown—but at least he gave what may be the first outsider in years a look at him.

Turner B. Shelton, U.S. ambassador to Nicaragua, a movie producer who became a diplomat, was on hand Monday night when the 66-year-old billionaire recluse met with Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza. Shelton said Tuesday that Hughes wears a small goatee—a pointed beard—and has close-cropped hair flecked with white.

"He looks very well, very alert and he is very personable," Shelton told UPI. "He looked quite healthy."

The ambassador said Hughes left this Central American capital, where he has been for the past four weeks, for an unknown destination Monday night. One source said Hughes had gone to Miami, but a check of customs and aviation authorities in the area gave no indication he actually had arrived.

Somoza said that several of Hughes aides had remained behind to continue business discussions. The president owns the national airline, Lanica, while Hughes owns Air West. There have been reports of a possible merger.

Somoza said Hughes told him "he was looking forward with keen anticipation to having the opportunity to returning to Nicaragua soon."

Shelton, who had worked for Warner Bros. and other movie makers before joining the State Department, said that Hughes called him asking that he arrange a meeting with Somoza at the airport.

"The president and I went to the airport," Shelton said. "He (Hughes) said he was going on a business trip."

He said he did not have any idea of Hughes' destination and would not comment on what was discussed by the billionaire and the president.

"He thanked me for arranging the meeting with the president and we had some general conversation, like 'How ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State sells bonds to finance housing, hospitals, highways, sewer plants and soon — if Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges gets his way — college bills.

The Senate endorsed a bill Tuesday that would establish another loan program for college students, to be financed through the sale of bonds by the State Mortgage Agency. The bill, passed unanimously, was sent to the Assembly where the outcome was uncertain.

The program, which Brydges calls a "deferred tuition plan," would permit a student to give a note of commitment to his college that he will pay his college bills. The college would sell the note to the State Mortgage Agency, which then issues bonds to cover the costs.

The student would be required to pay back his debt, plus seven per cent annual interest, within 10 years after completing his college career. The debt could be suspended and eventually wiped out, however, if the payments exceed a certain percentage of the former student's income.

Brydges said the agency probably could sell bonds at five per cent interest. With the students paying back the loans at 7 per cent, he said the margin would allow enough funds to cover the costs of administration.

Ironically, the bill was passed a day after Standard & Poor's investment service downgraded the rating of most bonds issued by New York State, meaning that the state probably will have to pay more interest on bond borrowings.

Brydges threatened state action to "regulate these agencies that set themselves up as God Almighty and make these unilateral determinations."

In other activity during the Tuesday session, the Senate rejected a suit brought by Comptroller Arthur Levitt against Rockefeller's proposed $7.9 billion spending plan for the fiscal year beginning April 1. He said Levitt had legal standing to challenge the budget, because the tracks would get more money to pay employees.

The state already has one loan program administered by the Higher Education Assistance Corporation (HEAC). This corporation guarantees the income of the borrower.

Payment of the loan could be suspended if payments exceed a certain percentage of income. The suspension would remain in effect until the borrower's wealth increased or the debt could be wiped out. This could apply, a Brydges aide said, to students who take a low-paying public-service job or to a man and wife with a combined student debt.

The bill was passed unanimously, although there were a few complaints.

Congress Expected to Raise $430 Billion Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is expected to raise the $430 billion national debt ceiling today—just as the actual debt bumps against it—but not before Democrats get off another volley against President Nixon's economic policies.

Legislation for a temporary increase, through June 30, to $450 billion, was first on the House calendar today. An effort to pass the bill Monday under speedup procedures requiring unanimous consent was blocked by one of the Democrats trying to force action on what they call loophole-closing tax reform.

The Senate is poised to act promptly after the House, so President Nixon could have a bill to sign by tonight.

But there was still a possibility that the Treasury might have to engage in some fast fiscal footwork, such as liquidating some of its exchange stabilization fund for quick cash to tide it over until it can resume its regular borrowing.

Democrats took aim at the inevitable next request for a raise, by June, with a resolution offered at their party caucus.

The resolution declares that "passage of legislation further increasing the federal debt ceiling will be jeopardized unless the President either publicly supports a meaningful revenue-raising tax-reform proposal, or, at least, sets forth the tax preferences or loopholes which in his judgment Congress may attempt to rectify without confronting a presidential veto."

A group of Democratic liberals had threatened to block passage of the present ceiling-raising bill unless it were tied to tax reform. They desisted, however, when Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee agreed to write Nixon asking for reform suggestions to be submitted by today.

When none had been received by Monday and the administration indicated none would be forthcoming soon, Rep. Philip Burton, D-Calif., made the objection that blocked quick passage.

Meanwhile, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, lined up with those demanding tax reforms.

Prison Officers Threaten Strike

STORMVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A strike has been threatened by correctional officers at Green Haven state prison if the state does not speed up negotiations for a new contract, according to their union chief.

Jack Malone, president of the Green Haven unit of Council 82, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, said the guards voted Tuesday for the possible strike. He said similar strike votes have been taken at Auburn and Elmira state prisons.

Malone said, "I expect this thing will be statewide, when it comes."

The state "says there's no money in the budget whenever we talk about pay or pensions," he added.

Malone said the state has reneged on an agreement reached with the guards' union after the September uprising at Attica State Prison.

The agreement included promises by the state to purchase additional clothes and toilet articles for inmates and to provide more security equipment in the prisons.

Malone said the state's failure to implement this the agreement is increasing the likelihood of more prison disturbances.

"Every one of the facilities right now are hotbeds and come this summer they're going to blow and make Attica look like a picnic," he stated.

"The state is apparently just waiting for them to blow thinking that's the only way to get public support to spend more money on the prisons. But it's our lives that are at stake," Malone added.

A Department of Correctional Services spokesman Tuesday night denied that the state was neglecting the agreement with the guards. "We haven't completed all of the things we set out to do, but we're working on them," he said.

The spokesman said he was unaware of the exact status of the contract negotiations.

Malone said a date had not been set for the strike. The guards contract expires March 31.

Planning Board Head Pressures For Appointment of Zoning Official

RHINEBECK Village of Rhinebeck Planning Board Chairman Eleanor Closs Tuesday night brought pressure to bear on the Village Board of Trustees to appoint a Zoning Enforcement Officer as soon as possible.

She cited at least two instances in the business district of Rhinebeck where buildings are under extensive alteration or being torn down. She asked that a man be appointed who will enforce the zoning law "diligently and with dispatch," adding that the "law is only as strong as the enforcement officer." She said neither of the buildings had received a permit.

Mayor Peter F. Sipperley said that the Board will study the matter with an eye toward appointing someone at the annual reorganizational meeting April 3. The original plan was to share the cost with the town, but the town passed its law far in advance of the village, making this impractical.

Some complaints from a resident of the village on the snow removal practices were answered. It was claimed that the business district had its sidewalks cleaned off while residential streets were left unplowed.

Sipperley said that the snow plowed onto business sidewalks had to be removed for the general welfare of the shoppers.

Trustee Eugene Trombini said that the street department plans to blacktop Parsonage and Chestnut Streets this summer, and possibly Knollwood.

Mayor Sipperley noted that talks between the Dutchess County Agricultural Society and the village have not yet progressed since S. Richard Lyod has been on vacation in Florida, but talks are planned in the near future to determine some alternate methods of traffic routing and cost-sharing between the two entities.

Village elections will be held March 21 in the first bay of the Board members vocally concurred.

to 9 p.m. There are only two candidates for the two trustee positions, and voting will be by written paper ballot.

Trustee Francis Kinney stated that the Board will have to face up to the reality of enlarging the reservoir for back-up water system, and other

Vines said that "in contrast, I have spoken from a proven record of performance, neither of my opponents can do this and therefore are no match for the incumbent congressman."

"John Dow is no pushover," Vines contended, "he has been elected three times now on 'flukes.' We cannot afford another fluke with a vote splitter from Rockland and a polished politician from Orange County."

Vines said he intends to wage a vigorous campaign against Gilman and remind the voters of "his true identity—a liberal spokesman for militant minorities who have turned to the streets, bent on destruction. I intend to expose

Bard Lecture Set Tonight

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON "A born Mozart player—and they are few," was the New York Times assessment of the pianist Thomas Richner, who will present the 1972 John Bard Lecture for Bard College's Division of Art, Music, Drama and Dance tonight.

Dr. Richner has been the subject of unusual critical acclaim and has earned a reputation as the definitive Mozart wherever he goes. A teacher and organist as well as pianist, Dr. Richner's appearance at Bard will be both a recital and a lecture.

In workshops for teachers and students of piano and organ, Dr. Richner has been said to have "revealed his affable, approachable nature and keen wit and won the hearts of people to himself as well as to his music."

And according to The Times, "Dr. Richner's approach manages to be scholarly, musical and pianistic at the same time. He is precise in matters of ornamentation, sensitive to the lyrical shaping of themes and unafraid to set off their poetry with glittering passagework."

The 8:30 p.m. concert in Bard Hall is open to the public.

Aggravating Irish Crisis

There is nothing probably that the British government would prefer more than to rid itself of the ugly problems of Ireland.

But both political parties in the British Parliament are aware that the hatreds and resentments that have brought Ulster to the brink of civil war are a British responsibility that cannot be abandoned.

So the British have properly rejected the glib suggestions of a number of U.S. senators that British troops be withdrawn from Northern Ireland. While the government of Prime Minister Edward Heath may not have the answers to the Irish crisis, it is also convinced that reconciliation of bitterly divided factions in Ulster is not encouraged by the irresponsible statements of outsiders remote from the strife.

The Irish issue, of course, has political appeal in the United States. Irish-Americans, whose families are long removed from the Emerald Isle, can still become emotional over reunification.

And Roman Catholics are not the only Americans distressed over the oppression of the Catholic minority in Ulster.

The rhetoric that echoes in the halls of Congress, however, is more likely to whet old animosities in Ireland than to dull them.

British resentment over senatorial interference has centered mainly on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who has been the most vociferous in calling for official U.S. intervention. The Massachusetts Democrat has been the subject of widespread editorial criticism in London newspapers and was dismissed by British Home Secretary Reginald Mauding last week as a "notorious American politician."

AGAIN, MAN'S RESCUER — The Seeing-Eye Dog has been joined by the Smelling-Nose Dog in service to mankind. The German shepherd "Brandy," who sniffed out the bomb 12 minutes before time of its explosion in the cockpit of the TWA jetliner and, Sally, a Labrador retriever also at the airport, were trained under a federal grant. Three months on the police force, they passed their first actual test with flying colors.

But Kennedy has remained persistent and with several other lawmakers has succeeded in initiating congressional hearings on demands that President Nixon plead publicly to the British to ease the crisis and improve the lot of the Catholics.

The Americans, unfortunately, have yet to offer realistic recommendations as to what steps the British might take to accomplish those seemingly hopeless objectives.

The Nixon administration has recognized wisely that Britain does not welcome meddling in its affairs any more than the United States would be receptive to, for instance, criticism of lagging school integration in Boston.

The State Department remains firm in its reluctance to make an inappropriate move. It has indicated its willingness to mediate—if it should be asked to do so.

Numbered among the congressmen who would like to dictate British policy in Ireland are those strongest in their condemnation of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

And it would be far better if Congress were to devote its talents to solving the many acknowledged U.S. problems involving justice and tranquility.

The situation in Ireland is explosive enough without the added fuel of congressional agitation.

THEY'RE NOT FUN HOUSES—The outcry about prison conditions evoke a point we are apt to forget. Governor Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut put it this way, "I think we have to keep in mind that correctional institutions aren't supposed to be fun houses. They're not supposed to be places that people want to get into." That puts it directly and clearly. We don't want pampering, but we do want and need true prison reform.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has often boasted of how he is conquering the crime wave. Unfortunately, the facts are that the conviction rate for federal felons has plummeted during his administration.

Even Nixon's most publicized targets, the drug offenders and draft dodgers, are being convicted at a lesser rate than they were under Lyndon Johnson.

Since 1968, the last year of the Johnson administration, there has been a resounding 20.2 per cent drop in the conviction rate for violators of narcotics laws, and the rate for marijuana pushers and users has fallen 18.9 per cent. Selective Service Act convictions are off 30.9 per cent.

These are just a few examples from an unpublished two-volume study, entitled "Federal Crimes and Sentences," by the administrative branch of the federal courts.

The bureaucrats who prepared the review chose the 17 federal crimes which most frequently come before federal judges.

In all cases but one, the conviction rate is down since 1968. Overall, prosecutions are up but a smaller proportionate share of the offenders are being convicted.

The astounding dip in the guilty rates of draft dodgers and drug offenders may be explained by changing public attitudes.

But a close look at the government study shows the Nixon administration is having difficulty convicting even the more conventional suspects.

Postal theft convictions, for example, are off 10.1 per cent, bank robbery convictions have fallen 14.6 per cent, and convictions for assaults are down 12.2 per cent.

Experts have offered us a number of theories to explain the falling conviction rates. One suggestion is that the Nixon administration has simply failed to hire enough competent prosecuting attorneys.

Three-Day Delay
The Justice Department, after taking three days to come up with their explanation, pointed to a "revolution in defense services."

"We're also bringing more cases than ever before," Associate Deputy Attorney General Donald E. Santarelli told my associate Joseph Spear. "And we're trying the harder cases."

Here is a complete list of the 17 offenses included in the study and the percentage change in the conviction rate for each:

Auto theft, down 7.3 per cent; interstate theft, down 8.9 per cent; transportation of forged securities, down 4.0 per cent; forgery, down 6.5 per cent; counterfeiting, down 5.2 per cent; bank embezzlement, down 7.2 per cent; postal fraud, down 6.5 per cent; postal theft, down 10.1 per cent.

Also bank robbery, down 14.6 per cent; assault, down 12.2 per cent; weapons and firearms, up 2.1 per cent; marijuana tax act, down 18.9 per cent; narcotic drug violations, down 20.2 per cent; escape, down 2.4 per cent; bail jumping, down 12.7 per cent; income tax violations, down 6.6 per cent; selective service acts, down 30.9 per cent.

Junk Parade
Abashed auto makers have had to send out 24.9 million notices recalling potentially unsafe cars since 1966. But ominously, seven million of the autos have never been repaired.

Some of these seven million have been junked since 1966, but the majority are still loose on the highways, hazards on wheels.

A new Department of Transportation tally shows that 22.6 million of the cars recalled through 1971 are American-made, and the remaining 2.3 million are imported. In all, Detroit and foreign companies had to advertise 906 different campaigns to get the autos back to the shop.

The parade of clanking, coughing, sputtering autos included cars with stuck accelerators, contaminated brake fluid and exhausts that leaked deadly carbon monoxide into passenger compartments.

By and large, these were fixed and put safely back on the road. But many of the notices never reached the car owners, some warning letters got to motorists who did not heed them, and a few cars came out of the repair shops uncorrected.

Because the recall campaigns haven't been complete and because state inspection systems are inadequate, an estimated 25 per cent of all cars on the road have bad brakes.

Small wonder, therefore, that the number of Americans killed in traffic accidents since 1933 is about to go over the 1.5 million mark, that 52 million have been seriously injured and that property damage now totals $179 billion (b).

Yet, despite this motorized mayhem, the Department of Transportation has ignored a 1966 federal law saying that, by 1968, it "shall establish uniform federal safety standards applicable to all used motor vehicles."

Nixon Crime War a Failure

The Great Wall of Russia

Ray Cromley Says

Hanoi Hurts at Home

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is growing evidence in letters from Hong Kong and Japan that the war may be costing North Vietnam a greater price than we have been thinking.

Not in "dollars." For Russia and Communist China have borne a goodly share of the costs. Not in total manpower. For though the cost in men killed and permanently injured would be unacceptable in a democracy, North Vietnam's leaders have calculated what they're able to spend in lives with some considerable accuracy.

The cost is in mismanagement, in corruption, in lower productivity of the farms and factories, in the quality of work, in the unit costs of production, in waste, and in the attitude of workers.

A good many of the best workmen are missing from the farms — and more of the work carried on by women and the old and very young.

Factories are short of able managers, team leaders and foremen — and killed workmen.

Government offices face the same problem — too many men and women who go through the motions of work without getting much done.

Worse yet, despite constant government urging, propaganda and pep sessions, and higher and higher goals, there's apparently a growing lethargy on farms, in the factories and government offices.

The government has attempted bonuses for better workers. It has distributed "profits" to those units which show up well. It has based wages on output. It has fined those whose work was inadequate. It has made clear to all concerned that, regardless of Communist theory, good workers would be paid more than poor ones.

But the results have not been satisfactory.

For one, too many of the able men in the North were sent South in the invasion armies as officers, sergeants, corporals and even privates, and as political and economic cadres, and have not returned. Those who have are somewhat cynical.

Further, because the war has so occupied the energies of Hanoi's leadership, and because it has so dominated the educational and economic priorities, the money and effort required have not been put into training the technically capable young men and women required in the numbers needed to run North Vietnam's factories, government offices and major farm projects.

Too many men in the government and in the factories have been political appointees. They've been "Red" but not experts. They've had the right political thoughts, but they have not been suitable for the jobs they hold.

The top posts and many of the lesser positions are filled with old men. Young men with scientific and technical knowledge and organizational abilities have not been promoted.

The floods which wracked North Vietnam last year were bad enough in themselves. The results were worse because bumbling bureaucrats did not know how to handle the crisis.

And lastly, there's growing suspicion among some top Hanoi officials — Le Thanh Nghi, deputy prime minister and Politburo member, for one — that too much dialectical verbiage has been directed at workers and they've been subjected to too many propaganda sessions. This has been counterproductive.

What bothers the top officials is that the productivity and quality have declined even in those industries where there have been considerable inputs of capital and technical equipment.

Don't Drive the Elevator

There are few young men bigger and more innately gentle than Dick Cami. He was a city slicker who could punctuate a street-corner argument with a hard right. Overnight, Mr. Cami matured, married and moved. He owns a restaurant down in Hollywood, Florida. It's on the 17th floor and is called Top O' the Home.

I recite this not as a plug for his place — which doesn't need it — but because of something which happened there one night. Unless you have a mental image of soft lights, seductive reds, sweet piano music and a lofty view of South Florida you will not disbelieve — as I did — the story of Yahoo.

That, of course, is not his name. He got off the penthouse elevator with his wife and another couple. One glance at his steaming kisser, the lopsided smile, and the loud roars for a cable and the maitre d' knew that Yahoo was higher than the restaurant.

He ordered, ate, and drank. The man was middle-aged and obviously out for a night on the town. He didn't think of what the morning would be like, and couldn't when it arrived. After finishing his coffee, and taking a last look out at the night jewels far below, he adjourned to the bar.

More drinks. Even the ladies were laughing loudly. He requested a number. When it was played he yelled "Yahoo!" It hit the diners like hailstones. Dick Cami, busy saying hello to everyone, looked up, smiled, and shrugged. More drinks. The pianist played "Lara's Theme." There was another "Yahoo!"

Cami shrugged. "He's on the edge," he said. "The edge of what?" a customer asked. "The edge of being asked to leave." There was a third "Yahoo!" Cami excused himself, hunched his size 48 shoulders, and walked toward the bar. When he arrived, he found that Yahoo had paid his bill and left.

No problem. The two men and two ladies hit both sides of the elevator door as they boarded it. The door closed. The car started down. Dick Cami sighed. A moment later, all hell broke loose. Alarm bells were ringing through the tall building.

Someone aboard the elevator had pressed the alarm button. This would stop the car wherever it was. At the time, there was no indicator over the door to tell where the elevator was. Cami figured that Yahoo had hit the alarm button for no reason at all. And yet, and yet...

He took two waiters with him, and told another to phone the night watchman in the lobby and ask him to come up in the second elevator. They started down. At each floor, they unlocked the elevator door. On the third floor down, they found a stylish lady standing outside her door with a martini in her hand and a half-dozen in her head. "Communaparty," she said.

There it was, halfway between the 15th and 16th floors. By standing on the 15th, Cami could see the legs of two ladies and a gentleman. "Don't panic," he said, as the night watchman arrived. It was his first night on the job and he had a ring with 40 keys.

Frightened, he stood near the open elevator, opened the key ring, and 20 fell down the shaft. "Careful!" one woman yelled. "My husband fell down there." "Where?" said Cami, blessing himself. "Down the shaft, stupid." If he did, he fell 15 floors to his death.

The watchman shook so violently he quit his job. Suddenly came a yell from far off: "Yahoo!" A waiter looked over the edge, down into the darkness. Nothing. Another yell: "Yahoo!" Cami climbed up into the elevator, and moved the car to floor level. "Communaparty," the lady with the martini said.

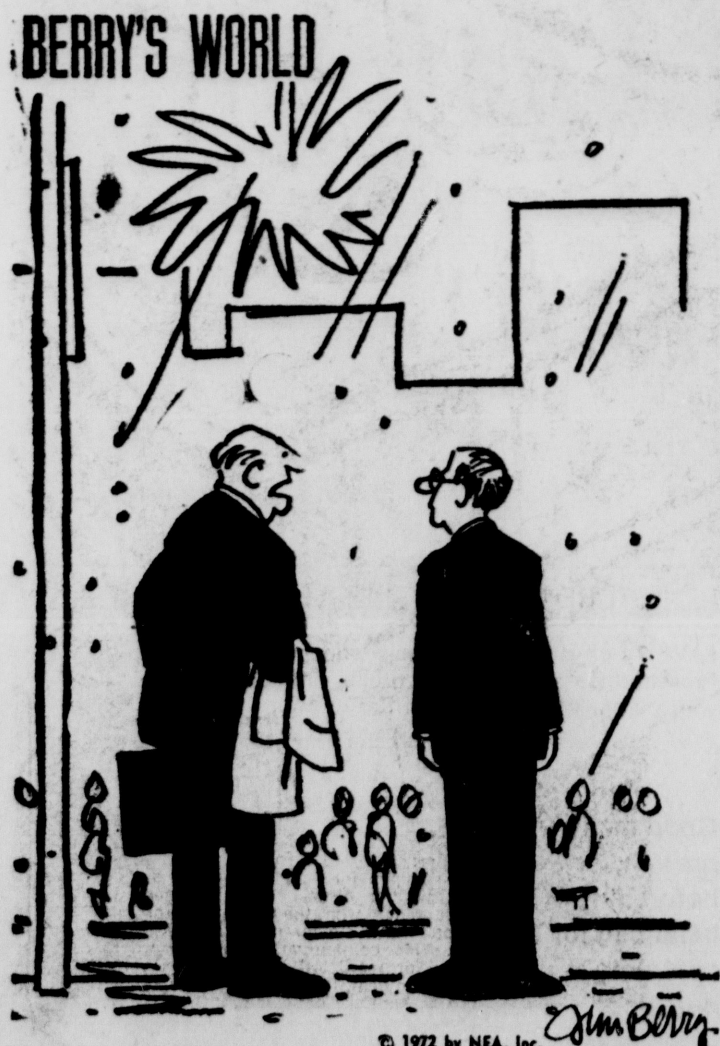

Cami and his waiters moved down, a floor at a time, forcing elevator doors open. On the fifth, the door was opened, and there stood Yahoo. He was not only alive, but he was standing in the loop of the cable which hangs under the elevator. The Hollywood Rescue Squad arrived as the watchman left the parking lot for home. The man reached out and dragged Yahoo to safety.

"Need a drink," he said soggily. "Look. Burned my hands." Obviously, when the car stopped between the 15th and 16th floors, he slid off to get help, fell backward into the shaft, managed to grab the greasy cable, and slid all the way to the fifth floor where his feet caught in the upward loop.

He was taken to the hospital for burned hands. Then Yahoo returned, took the elevator to the 15th floor. Everybody roared laughing at the bandages. The martini lady opened her door. "Communaparty," she mumbled.

Cami has an edge of gray in his hair...

"We never used to have weather like this BEFORE Nixon went to China!"

POW Return

Editor, The Freeman:

March 26th thru April 1st has been proclaimed as National Week of Concern for Prisoners of War and Missing in Action in Southeast Asia.

Nine years ago marks the beginning of the POW/MIA tragedy. Do you realize that some of these men are now entering their 6th, 7th, 8th, and 9th year in COMMUNIST cells or jungle camps where they are refused even the basic humanitarian protection of the Geneva Convention. I ask you my fellow citizens, what have you done to help FREE them???

Most people know by now of the cruelty and shocking treatment that has been heaped upon U.S. servicemen captured in the Vietnam War. But FEW can fully realize the depth of the anguish and despair that these men face day after day. How about the sorrow and despair that their loved ones face with each passing day?

They are ill fed, poorly clothed, brutalized and in most cases cut off from all communication with their loved ones. These men survive on their faith and on the faint hope that we, their fellow citizens, are doing all we can to bring them home. BUT ARE WE???

Let's get behind this Week of Concern and do everything we can to bring these men back to freedom.

Anniversary

Editor, The Freeman:

Monday 13 March was an Anniversary in Kingston. On 13 March 1971 the Environmental Task Force of the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce made the first of the 1971 recycling drives. Nine and one-half tons of used newspapers and magazines were collected.

That first drive was largely direct at the Town of Ulster but many people from Kingston and other areas brought in their paper as well. Since then the drives have been extended in an effort to include as much of Ulster County as possible and to have the drives on or nearly on the same date so that publicity is more effective and so people will take materials to depots near their homes.

Some people have only a small amount of space they can use for storing these recyclable materials. For this reason some people don't save any of them. It should be pointed out that even a few magazines or newspapers, bottles and cans brought to the recycling depots is that much less filling the landfill areas.

The next drives are planned for April.

I've met some very nice people at the recycling drives. I hope to go on meeting the same ones and more too.

Pro Abortion

Editor, The Freeman:

Once again tis the season for increased attacks on New York's abortion bill by short sighted, misinformed individuals. The acceptance and use of the provisions of this bill has proved once and for all the absolute necessity of abortion as medical backup for birth control deficiencies. Rather than resort to illegal procedures or mental anguish, women from all parts of the country have been afforded proper medical care at a reasonable price. Recent changes in 16 other states shows public acceptance to this most crucial decision which rightly should be a private medical matter between the physician and the woman. Perhaps compulsory pregnancy and unwanted children will become a thing of the past.

Those who feel differently about abortion might well tend to the many millions of unwanted children who exist poorly at the present time rather than those unborn.

Women's Work

Editor, The Freeman:

I read with interest your recent editorial on the woman, in the home, who does not receive a salary.

There are just so many hours in a day. Say the average woman puts in twelve hours a day working. One woman may spend eight of these hours at a paying job, another spends these same eight hours at home, minus the dollars and cents.

One cannot assume every woman who stays home is not appreciated by husband and family. There are many women who do not feel an hourly wage is the one important thing in life. There is much satisfaction in being able to greet and show interest to one's child when he or she gets home from school each day, and these few years pass by so rapidly. Then, too, there are the three summer vacation months where many a moment can be spent which are unforgettable moments of sharing.

In more than half the cases, the woman who stays home has given her town and society a very worthwhile, voluntary service. And this knowledge is payment in itself.

Yours truly,

Role of Nursing

Editor, The Freeman:

The individual licensure of nurses is "up for grabs" in our State legislature, and imperfect humans, like ourselves, are devising new laws that just might slip through our sleepy populace. Thus, moving our country closer to a system called: Socialism.

Yes, in a foreseeable future, hospital administrators may have the option to educate their own personnel to function within a certain institution. Thus, all nurses will be grouped together as one: The nurse who holds a Master's degree; the four year graduate; the three year graduate; the two year graduate; the one year graduate; the high school graduate; or no graduate at all. Yep, one big ball of nurse humanity. Oh, there'd be lofty guidelines to follow. That is until there's another squeeze on the dollar. Economy would then take precedent.

Why is this new law being considered? To meet the demands of the consumer, of course.

You shrug and say "Eh, so what?" Maybe hospital care will improve, you think. Maybe it'll get better? Can it get worse? For gosh sake a guy hasta be rich to keep up with hospital costs.

Did you ever wonder why nurses may appear to be so indifferent, so unfeeling, so smug?

Are they? Maybe the individual nurse has become so conditioned to: radical change, violence and war, loss of personal respect that he or she is lulled into a false complacency. The idea that another personal freedom may "go down the drain," doesn't mean too much. The nurse does a job for a shift, and that's all. Or does he/she feel more inside about this "job?"

The loss of an individual license to practice nursing! How terrible!

"Big deal," you say. Sometimes a patient never meets a nurse except the head nurse who says "hello," and "goodbye." Everyone's a nurse aren't they? They all look the same. Many wear caps and pins. Correction, the cap may be deleted soon, the modern nurse finds it cumbersome. How sad, she finds the white cloth, a symbol of purity, trimmed with a hard earned black band, which means humility, to difficult to wear?

"Square idealism," you may say. With or without "the nurse," I received care in the hospital. If I don't get care, I'll sue, so there, they gotta take care of me.

You'll sue indeed. Law suits are the answer to every maidens prayer. They are a solution for every infraction — a sign of human sluggishness. We continue to become a hard pack of human animals, we've forgotten our higher natures; we've forgotten how to practice charity or love our young are always yelling about. We've forgotten how to care.

The individual who chose to serve the sick once cared a great deal. He/she endured a special education and became qualified to practice nursing by passing usually two day examinations prepared by the Board of Regents of the State of New York. The individual felt that a nursing career would be: important to himself; to the community in which he/she served. This career was a privilege; a work of mercy; a challenge to the inner man. Pride in one-self, and a belief in a once proud profession made the nurse stand apart: A person to seek in time of need; someone you could count on.

Primarily, women have entered the nursing profession, and quite often soon after graduation they are married and leave nursing to become homemakers. They are no longer active health team members. Therefore, are they no longer nurses? You bet your bippy, they are. Deep within the soul of every person educated to serve the sick you'll find: A nurse. She may be busy with a family, but her concern for suffering humanity is a part of her very nature. But...

John Q. Public has demanded quantity, and quantity often diminishes quality.

However, nurses themselves are beginning to realize the plight of their profession lies within each individual. We all will do something positive to meet the demands of the public, without sacrificing good care. Why? Because if we don't stand up for a part of our lives we believe in, we might as well be dead.

Thus, matrons are believing that life does begin at forty and family reared, many nurses return to the bosom of their profession. Nurses need to be needed. They relearn, they learn the mechanics, the new skills of their profession, wiser and with more to give.

And, men are now being recognized as fine nurses. With healthier attitudes, manhood is no longer questioned. Men have given an added depth to nursing.

The male patient, in an embarrassing physical situation of the female nurse, welcomes the sight of another male to serve and help him. At a delicate moment in his life, a male patient, very often feels a loss of pride at the sight of the female nurse. Computers and other machines, teams and other groups will never replace the touch of human kindness felt by every nurse who lives in New York. Without individual licensure the nurse will become lost in a crowd. The nurse will cease to be an individual and the patient will further become a member of a herd, a room number: Not a special separate entity — not one special human being.

That he/she may help you? Please take a pen in hand and let your local legislators know that every new idea isn't the solution to difficult problems. Won't you help the nurse, so

New York State became a very important abortion center. How much longer will we slumber? Proudly I remain, JOAN ROSE, R.N.

Twelve Indicted For Rikers Riot

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve young men have been indicted on charges stemming from a four-hour disturbance last month at the Rikers Island Adolescent Remand Shelter in which five correction officers were taken hostage and 75 inmates and guards injured.

Five of the inmates were accused of threatening to hang three correction officers from a third-floor balcony during the Feb. 27 disturbance, which was quelled with tear gas.

The indictments by a Bronx grand jury were announced by Bronx Dist. Atty. Burton B. Roberts at a news conference Tuesday.

Charges against the 12 ranged from unlawful imprisonment and reckless endangerment to assault and possession of dangerous weapons.

The eight 20-year-old inmates and the four 19-year-old inmates were scheduled to plead March 22 in Bronx criminal court.

Roberts said the disturbance was triggered in Cellblock Seven after an inmate who refused to be removed peacefully to the Manhattan House of Detention for Men "spoke to other inmates with almost military-like precision."

"Numerous inmates in the block went to appointed posts," Roberts said. "Seized five hostages, and the disturbance began."

Three hostages were tied around the neck with bedsheets torn into strips after being taken to a third-floor tier, Roberts said. The two other guards were locked in cells.

Roberts did not elaborate on the organization of the disturbance, which caused an estimated $150,000 damage to the cellblock.

Roberts said toilet bowls were ripped from their stands and thrown at guards, nearly tearing off the thumb of one guard.

Calling the five hostages "heroes" and "flesh and blood human beings," Roberts praised correction officers in general, saying they have "one of the most dangerous jobs in this city."

Navy's Look...Academy Appearance Unchanging

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Although the U.S. Navy under Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr. has taken on a new look, replete with long hair, beer in the mess hall, bell-bottom trousers, and midshipmen at the U.S. Naval Academy still will have to be satisfied with the old way of life.

Admiral Zumwalt and I are in full agreement on this," says Vice Adm. James Calvert, who at 50 is the youngest superintendent of the Naval Academy has ever had.

Where 60 young men ranging from 13 to 27 once crowded into some old barracks located on 10-acre Fort Severn in 1845, more than 4,000 midshipmen now walk the academy's 300 acres.

Calvert, the 46th superintendent of the academy, is a highly decorated officer who commanded the nuclear submarine "Skate" when she became the first submarine to surface at the North Pole in 1958. He assumed command at the academy amid a growing wave of anti-military feeling among the youth of the country.

He was faced with an alarming rise in voluntary resignation rates at the academy, which had reached a peak with the freshman class of 1968—the year he took over.

So Calvert did a full-scale evaluation, and by the spring of 1969, he announced major revisions in the so-called "core curriculum"—a program that required every midshipman to spend 85 per cent of his time on required courses.

"The core curriculum had to be revised," he said. As revised, the only courses required today by name and number are the professional courses, which comprise about one-third of the total program.

A midshipman today may choose an area of major academic concentration from about 20 available and there are more than 400 electives, including several black studies courses.

Although longer hair styles still are frowned upon, many upper classmen who leave the academy for weekends don wigs for the occasion if they really want the shaggy hair. Last June, however, more than 60 per cent of the graduating class went directly to sea duty, with post-graduate training to come later.

This percentage will increase annually until eventually, only a few exceptional graduates—like Rhodes scholars—will be allowed to postpone their sea duty.

Calvert says the results of the changes at the academy appear to be good.

"Recruitment is at an all-time high, resignation rates are down, and over-all retention rates are up," he attributes who are interested in the engineering, mathematics and science fields.

"I think those are the areas in which we are growing stronger and areas where so many of today's prestigious undergraduate institutions are growing weaker," he says.

Equalization Rates Listed for Ulster County

NEW PALTZ highest was in Shawangunk with a loss of two points and a change of 15.29 per cent of full value. Bevier (R-Dist. 8) recently announced the tentative equalization rates for the various communities in Ulster County that have recently been released by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment. Bevier said the county average change in full value between 1970 and 1971 was 8.28. He said that as is usually the case, some communities show a larger change in value than others and will therefore have to pay a greater share of county and school taxes than they did last year.

The dinner will be held at Tommy's Restaurant, 11 High Street, Kingston.

CATHY E. KASMR

ROBERT JOHNSANSEN

Completes Training, Top Platoon Shooter

Airman Cathy E. Kasmir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kasmir of 163 Fairview Avenue, Kingston, has completed her U.S. Air Force basic training at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex.

She has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., for training in the supply field.

Airman Kasmir is a 1971 graduate of Kingston High School.

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. Robert Johnansen, son of Mr. 1971.

and Mrs. Robert Johnansen of West Shokan, has recently become the high shooter of his platoon while undergoing recruit training at Parris Island, S.C.

Qualification with the service rifle is obtained by firing the rifle from 200, 300 and 500 meters. He qualified with a final score of 234 out of a possible 250.

The West Shokan Marine recruit graduated from Ontario Central High School and enlisted in the Marine Corps with his brother, Chris, Dec. 28, 1971.

Seafarer, Airman Program Announced by U. S. Navy

KINGSTON Petty Officer Kenneth Thorp, recruiter in charge of the Kingston Navy recruiting office, announced a new three-year enlistment program titled the "Seafarer" and "Airman".

These programs are designed specifically for the young man who desires to serve in the challenging environment of the sea, without incurring the longer active duty commitment imposed by attendance at an advanced training school.

The programs can guarantee duty with one of the Navy's seagoing units, whether that be a guided missile destroyer operating in the Pacific Ocean, or a sophisticated aircraft squadron embarked on an aircraft carrier in the Mediterranean Sea. It opens the horizons of the seas or the spaciousness of the skies to additional young men.

Under the Seafarer program, young men will be guaranteed duty on board a ship operating from the coast of their choice. Rather than attending a "Class A" or an advance training school, after recruit training, men will receive on the job training in one of three apprenticeships: Seaman (general shipboard duties); Fireman (engineering assignments); or Constructionman (Seabee or Construction trade assignments).

A young man in the airman program is guaranteed assignment to an aviation unit of the coast of his choice. Duty may be to a Naval Air installation, aircraft carrier crew, or an aircraft squadron embarked in an aircraft carrier.

Both the Seafarer and Airman programs are open to 17 year olds who are high school graduates, or 18 to 31 year olds who hold a high school diploma or an equivalency. (Waivers may be granted to non-high school graduates who score high enough on entrance examinations.)

All enlistments will have a beginning salary of $288 per month, plus housing, meals, medical care, uniform allowances and other military entitlements.

Men in the Seafarer or Airman programs who later desire to attend an advanced training school will be permitted to apply, provided they contract for the additional service obligation required for school.

The Seafarer and Airman programs are the minimum enlistment offered by the regular Navy. The normal enlistment with a guarantee of advanced schooling remains four years. Programs offering up to two years advanced schooling in the electronics or nuclear propulsion fields carry a six year obligation.

Additional information on the Seafarer and Airman programs is available from Petty Officer Thorp or Petty Officer John White at the recruiting office located at Broadway and Maiden Lane.

GI Bill Since '66 Start — Nearly 3 Million Enrolled

NEW YORK Nearly three million veterans and servicemen trained under the G. I. Bill since the bill went into effect in June 1966, a Veterans Administration publication reveals.

The January issue of the information bulletin summarizes VA educational activities from fiscal year 1967 through November 1971.

P. M. Nugent, director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office at 252 Seventh Avenue, New York City, said the bulletin indicates 132,680 New York State veterans have been trained in the agency's programs out of a total of 455,000 eligible veterans in the state.

Nugent noted that nearly 1.2 million veterans were enrolled in VA educational programs around the country last November. Of that number, 80,104, took their training in New York State.

Other highlights of the information bulletin:

The 1.2 million veterans in training last November were a 21 per cent increase over the year before.

There were nearly 1.6 million G.I. Bill trainees last fiscal year, 31 per cent more than the 1.2 million a year earlier.

An estimated two million persons are expected to participate in VA's educational programs this fiscal year.

Last November, 737,000 veterans were studying in college under the G.I. Bill — 25 per cent more than the 590,000 in November 1970.

G.I. Bill trainees at all levels jumped 240 per cent between fiscal years 1967 and 1971, from 468,000 to 1.6 million.

To qualify for this benefit, a recipient must be the wife, widow or child of a veteran who died from service-connected causes, or suffered service-connected permanent, total disabilities.

Pay Board Tackles Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened higher today, continuing Tuesday's upswing.

Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by nearly 2 to 1.

Opening Big Board prices included Chase Manhattan, down 1/4 to 55 1/4; Fuqua Industries, up 1 1/4 to 24; RCA, up 1/4 to 42 1/2; Thiokol, up 1/4 to 19 1/4; and Avnet, up 1/4 to 14 1/4.

Stock market prices Tuesday posted a modest gain, with the Dow Jones industrial average rising 5.34 to 934.00. This ended a five session slide during which the Dow had dropped some 21 points.

Big Board volume totalled 22.37 million shares. A good hunk of this—some 5,245,000 shares—came from a single block trade of American Motors, the largest block in terms of shares in New York Stock Exchange history.

Analysts said the upswing was largely the result of bargain hunting.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pay Board called a closed meeting today to tackle for the second day in a row its toughest problem to date—the contract settlement that ended the record West Coast dock strike.

The board met for three hours in an unusual public session Tuesday and followed that by a two-hour executive meeting, but failed to decide whether to accept the contract or soften it and risk a re-run of the recent protracted waterfront tieup.

If the panel approves the one-year contract, now estimated by pay board analysts at 21.5 per cent in wage and fringe benefits, it risks setting an inflationary precedent for other large wage settlements waiting in the wings.

But if the board says the longshoremen must stick firmly to government wage control guidelines, the dock workers will qualify for only an 8.9 per cent combined increase. This, or even a slight modification of the contract, likely would incur the wrath of longshore leader Harry Bridges.

Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU), has said that East Coast dock workers would join his troops in a nationwide waterfront strike if the board cuts the contract "by as much as one cent."

But Bridges made no threats Tuesday when he went before the board. In his testimony he calmly asked the board to relax its guidelines in this case because of a dramatic improvement in dock worker efficiency in recent years.

E. J. Flynn, president of the Pacific Maritime Association (PMA), the bargaining group for West Coast steamship companies, backed up Bridges on this point. The Pay Board's own staff also offered its endorsement.

The Price Commission meanwhile approved increases for two newspapers.

The Cleveland Press won permission to raise its advertising and circulation rates an average of 7.34 per cent. The paper is a division of the E. W. Scripps Co.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner, a Hearst Corp. publication, won a 4.19 per cent increase, although there was no elaboration on what the increase covered.

Dutchess Girl Killed in Auto Crash

EAST FISHKILL — An 18-year-old Dutchess County girl was fatally injured before noon Tuesday, when the car she was a passenger in went out of control on Route 52 in this township and crashed into guard rails.

Fishkill State Police reported Linda Simmons of that village died of a fractured skull and other injuries.

Sergeant William Urey said Miss Simmons was riding in a vehicle operated by Deborah Goodman, 18, of Hopewell along the highway when the operator reportedly pulled out to pass an unidentified vehicle. After passing, Miss Goodman "blacked out," police said and the car hit the guard rails.

Miss Simmons was ejected from the car.

Bond Issue Has Support

ALBANY Much support for the proposed $1.2 billion Environmental Bond Issue to be voted in November is coming from Ulster County.

A number of contingents from Saugerties, Highland, Esopus, Woodstock and other areas are attending today's public hearing in Albany to speak in favor of the proposal. The hearing took place in the Assembly Parlor in the Capitol at 1:30 p.m.

In addition to the $100 million which would be devoted to State Park Acquisition and Development, local governmental representatives and others are greatly interested in the financial aid townships would receive to help solve their solid waste problems.

About $400 million would be allocated for promoting regionalization and environmentally sound disposal methods by providing 25 per cent local assistance for land acquisition for approved solid waste disposal systems. Also for stimulating installation of resource recovery systems such as sorters and shredders by municipal governments by providing 50 per cent local assistance for such equipment. Local government heads have indicated that passage of the Environmental Bond Issue is their only hope of getting aid to establish much needed sewerage systems.

Augustus Brinnier of Brinnier and Larios Civil Engineers and former Ulster County Environmental Sanitary Engineer Harry Edinger are among those attending the hearing as is Saugerties Mayor Cornelius Cox and Woodstock Supervisor Verner May.

The bond issue would also allow for acquisition of open space near or within urban areas and develop trails for hiking, bicycling, ski touring, horseback riding, snow shoeing and snowmobiling.

It would also allow for acquisition of additional acreage of the Appalachian Highlands in Orange, Rockland and Putnam counties and rights of way for Appalachian, Finger Lakes and North Country trails.

Waterway development would include: camping areas with launch sites, tie-up areas for boat day use and others for overnight cruiser use, additional launching ramps. Also beach, picnic and other facilities.

Coalition Formed On Stewart Field

POUGHKEEPSIE A strong coalition to speak out against "the unwarranted expansion of Stewart Field in Newburgh" without benefit of a master plan and public hearings, has been formed in Poughkeepsie and represents more than 5,000 persons.

Fifty people representing 30 community groups in Orange and Dutchess County met Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Brodsky of Poughkeepsie at the invitation of Earth Recovery Action.

The following groups, representing more than 5,000 persons have joined the "Citizens Coalition Against the Jetport": Earth Recovery Action, Dutchess County Taxpayers Association, Dutchess College PYE (Protect Your Environment), Wappingers Conservation Association, Golden Park Homeowners Association, Hudson River Valley Council, Maybrook Homeowners Association, American Association for Retired People, Wappingers Falls Jaycees, South Road Civic Association, Mid-Hudson Sierra Club, and Marist Ecology Action.

About seven other community groups, representing an additional 5,000 people have indicated interest in joining, pending approval of their executive boards. Among those present at the meeting were Earl Bruno, majority leader of the Dutchess County Board of Representatives and James Goodall, minority leader, also George Supin, assistant to the County Executive William Bartles.

Opposition to the jetport was expressed with the group feeling that it would be "wasteful use of enormous sums of tax money at a time of fiscal crisis, that there is a lack of opportunity for community planning and participation in airport development and because of the harmful environmental effects."

Also, because of the "arrogant and devious methods of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority and Gov. Rockefeller without regard for local citizens."

Immediate action to be undertaken was outlined as follows: disseminating of public information, the telephoning and writing of legislators demanding public hearings prior to further development of the airport and the contacting of the national news media encouraging in-depth coverage.

Announcement was made of a public informational meeting to be held March 28 at 8 p.m. at Central Hudson Auditorium in Poughkeepsie. A panel discussion will be conducted concerning both sides of the issue.

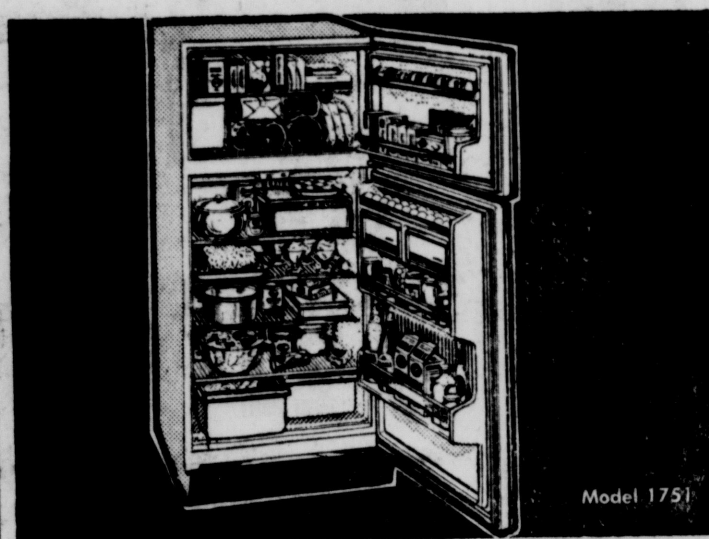

The "Citizens Coalition Against the Jetport" will meet April 3 at a place and time to be announced. Anyone interested may call Harriet James of Pleasant Valley or Geri Brodsky of Poughkeepsie for information.

Postal Service Stepping Up Enforcement

KINGSTON The U. S. Postal Service is stepping up enforcement efforts against armed attacks on letter carriers, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said today.

Newkirk said he had been advised by William J. Cotter, chief postal inspector, that there had been a sharp increase in these crimes across the nation, principally by criminals trying to get the keys to mail deposit boxes from carriers.

There were 38 such robberies two years ago, 89 last year, and 77 have been reported already during the first six months of the current fiscal year, Newkirk said. In one major midwestern city alone 23 carriers have been robbed during the last 90 days, he noted.

A mandatory penalty of 25 years in prison is imposed for an attack on a carrier, Newkirk noted. In one recent case conviction was obtained on a Chicago man, Joseph Minnifield, for an attack on a letter carrier.

"We won't leave any stone unturned in our efforts to find and arrest anyone who assaults or otherwise criminally interferes with postal employees," Newkirk said.

Tax Refund Payments Accelerated

ALBANY State income tax refunds are being paid at an accelerated pace as a result of innovations introduced this year. Tax Commissioner Norman Gallman said today.

More than $5.2 million worth of checks were issued to over 91,000 taxpayers by mid-February this year, compared with $4.9 million and 69,000 checks a year ago.

Commissioner Gallman credited the speed-up to increased efficiency in the processing operation by the Income Tax Bureau, including an earlier start on the mailing of income tax forms to the taxpayers. The direct filing of returns to the Income Tax Bureau in Albany, rather than to the various district offices of the Tax Department throughout the State, is another factor in accelerating processing of returns and refunds.

Nevertheless, Gallman said, a large number of taxpayers — especially in the New York City area — are sending their returns to the Tax Department's district offices. Many of these are returns prepared by private tax consulting agencies, he said.

"Mailing refunds to district tax offices will delay the refunds," the Commissioner said. "All income tax returns should be mailed directly to the Income Tax Bureau in Albany."

Area Teachers Included In Survey

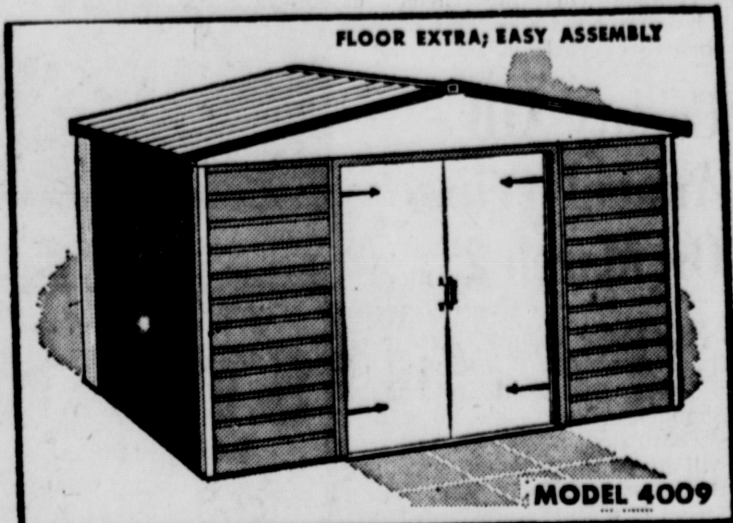

ALBANY Full time faculty members at Orange County, Ulster County, and Dutchess Community College were included in a survey on salaries and fringe benefits made by the Research Office of the New York State Public Employees Relations Board and released recently.

The report show that salaries for full time teachers vary from a low of $5,100 to a high of $31,275.

The report is designed to provide college officials, local government sponsors and employee organizations with readily obtainable comparative data. It was compiled from contracts on file with PERB, current faculty handbooks, and interviews with college officials.

In addition to salaries, it contains information on work load provisions affecting full time faculty: evening, overload, and summer school provisions; promotion and tenure policies; health insurance and short term leave benefits; sabbatical leave provisions; grievance procedures including arbitration; union privileges; retirement benefits and other general contract provisions.

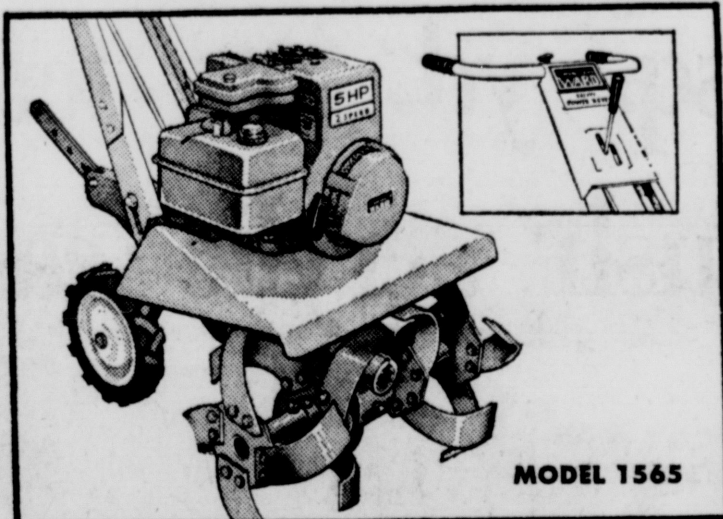

Copies of the report may be obtained from the Office of Research, NYS Public Employment Relations Board, 50, Wolf Road, Albany 12205.

Third place went to Ken Book for his activities in the Neptune Theatre, Neptune, and Carlton, Red Bank, N.J. BOSTON, MASS.

Oscar Wiltse of Tannersville has been named a winner of a 1971 Community Service Award by the Prudential Insurance Company of America. Wiltse is one of 17 to receive this honor from among the more than 6000 Prudential employees serving the Northeast territory.

Wiltse, an agent with the company since 1968, was presented with the award by Thomas Allsopp, Prudential's senior vice president from the Northeastern Home Office headquarters in Boston.

The presentation was made during a district meeting where Wiltse was recognized for numerous outstanding voluntary community accomplishments. His achievements include serving as fire chief of the Tannersville Volunteer Fire Department, supervising some 65 volunteer firemen who respond to about 150 calls each year. As assistant administrator for the Town of Hunter Ambulance Service, Wiltse taught a course last year to ambulance attendants in Emergency First Aid.

He also conducted training courses for rescue squad personnel through the American Red Cross. Wiltse served as secretary-treasurer of the Rescue Squad of the Tannersville Fire Department in 1971 primarily assisting in the fund-raising campaign to purchase a new first aid and rescue truck.

As one of his fellow rescue squad workers wrote, "He is very dedicated to helping others when they need it most — that is, when their life, health, or safety are in danger."

Allsopp added at the presentation, "We at Prudential are very fortunate to have such men as Oscar Wiltse among us."

FOUR OFFICERS TAKE AIM DURING PISTOL FIRING CLASS

(Freeman Photos by Haines)

TWO POLICEMEN CROUCH AS THEY PREPARE FOR SIMULATED ATTACK.

Firearms Course For City Police

KINGSTON — Members of the Kingston Police Department, including sergeants and lieutenants, are participating in a well-planned training course in the firing of pistols and all other types of weapons, according to Police Chief Julius M. Glassman.

The course is conducted by Officer Ernest Bartroff, a qualified FBI instructor and Chief Glassman. Sessions are held each Thursday with classes in the morning and afternoon at the State Armory range on Manor Avenue. Glassman noted that the training course will continue through the year in conjunction with other programs that will be conducted to keep the department members familiar with the latest methods in law enforcement and combatting crime.

The chief noted that the training course began recently with pistol firing, and as the program progresses all types of weapons will be used to familiarize the men with the use of all guns.

All department members are required to take part in the weapons project, the chief said. Each Thursday, officials assign groups of department members to go to the Armory for special firing of weapons. Bartroff instructs the men in slow and rapid fire at distances of 75 and 50 feet, and an official Army L target is used. Each officer fires 30 rounds of ammunition in single and double-action firing, the FBI trained instructor noted.

Bartroff explained that the project is known as the Army L course.

Officer Bartroff has attended several in-training firearms schools and an advanced training school. He completed an instructor's course, attending a school directed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Peekskill. That program consisted of one session a year for three years.

Chief Glassman noted that the current firearms course is one phase of a continuing program of varied projects that are planned for all members of the department to keep them abreast of the modern methods of performing the duties of a police officer.

Jury Charges Life Insurance Plot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eight days before attractive blonde nurse Gail Richards died last fall, her employer, Dr. Geoffrey Richstone, with whom she shared an apartment, allegedly applied for life insurance policies on her totaling $105,000, a grand jury indictment charged Tuesday.

The following day, the grand jury said, Richstone's accountant, Edwin Weinberg, reportedly sent the Continental Assurance Co. an initial $1,900 premium for the insurance.

The eight-count indictment handed up in Manhattan Supreme Court charged Richstone and Weinberg with attempted grand larceny, offering a faked document for filing, tampering with physical evidence and five misdemeanors.

The indictment said Richstone and a friend and former employee, Beth Rose—not named as a defendant in the indictment—found the 30-year-old nurse's body in her apartment on the fashionable upper east side Sept. 18.

The indictment charged Richstone and Weinberg with conspiring to collect on the insurance policies by "falsely representing to the Continental Assurance Co. that Gail Richards had died on Sept. 20 from viral pneumonia," concealing the fact that she had been suffering from Hodgkins disease.

Nyack Chorale To Give Concert

KINGSTON graduates are found now in all parts of the world in pastoral, missionary, educational, and musical posts. During the concert one or two of the students will give thumbnail reports concerning the campus. The chorale comes to Kingston fresh from its recent appearance in Philharmonic Hall, Lincoln Center, where the young people were involved in a massed chorus under the direction of Professor Nordgren for the annual World Missions Program sponsored by the college. People from area churches may attend the concert. Local arrangements for the program are in charge of the Rev. George Osborne, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church of Kingston. Cancer Crusade Personnel Announced by Chairman KINGSTON Key personnel for this year's Cancer Crusade scheduled for April were announced this week by Raymond Armater, county crusade chairman. The county goal for 1972 is $70,100.

Chairman Armater, displaying enthusiasm about his crusade team, said, "We again have an excellent crusade team and preliminary meetings have developed some innovations which when activated will push us over our goal."

Frank Fabbie, deputy clerk of the Ulster County Legislature, a proven campaigner in various other endeavors, has been named crusade chairman for the City of Kingston. Fabbie, a resident of 20 Crane Street, is currently recruiting crusaders for the 13 wards of the city. Those who wish to volunteer may contact him at home or at the County Building, Fair and Main Streets, Kingston.

Albert J. Cawein of Sauger-ties, public relations director of Ulster County and 1970 Steuben Award recipient for his editorial on cancer, is again serving as crusade publicity chairman.

James J. Rua, vice president, cashier and assistant trust officer at Ronfaut National Bank, Kingston, was again named crusade treasurer.

Robert C. (Josh) Randall, former radio news director of WGHQ and now County Emergency Employment Program administrator has been named as chairman of special events.

The special events program this year has been greatly expanded and will provide many interesting activities.

Armater said there are several outstanding special gifts chairmen.

Michael Pagliaro, personnel director of Kingston Hospital and last year's city crusade chairman, heads the Special Gifts Division for individuals.

Henry P. Jacobs, DDS, local dentist is chairman of the Dentist Division; Dr. James R. Clarkin, local physician, heads the Physicians Division; Ulster County District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, is in charge of the Attorneys Division.

Harry Kaprelian, president-treasurer of Ramsey Corp., Kingston was named to head the Industrial Division.

Robert B. Murray, vice president of State of New York National Bank heads the division for Banking Institutions.

Dist. 7 Legislator Lewis Kirschner, uptown businessman is chairman of the division for Independent Business.

Armater stressed that all funds collected are used to support the Cancer Society's three-fold program of Research, Education and Service to the Patient. All Cancer Crusade volunteers are unpaid. Only an executive director and a part-time secretary are on staff at the Ulster County Unit office, 400 Broadway.

Further, Armater said, no funds are spent on advertising or billboards. All newspaper, radio and other advertising is provided to the Cancer Society free of charge as a public service, he concluded.

Crusaders

Four key personnel of the 1972 Ulster County Cancer Crusade scheduled for April discuss plans for the forthcoming campaign in Kingston and Ulster County. Left to right are: Robert C. Randall, special events chairman; District 7 Legislator Lewis Kirschner, Independent business chairman; Albert J. Cawein, publicity chairman and Deputy Clerk of County Legislature Frank Fabbie, City of Kingston crusade chairman.

Board Sets Date

SAUGERTIES

The Board of Education of the Saugerties Central School District set May 2 as the date for its annual budget meeting, and May 3 as the date when voting on the budget and three Board vacancies will take place, at its regular meeting Monday night.

The budget for the 1972-73 school years has not yet been approved by the Board of Education. The Board will meet in special session on March 27 to work on budget preparations. The budget will be presented to the public at the May 2 meeting. Copies of the budget are expected to be made available when it is completed.

On May 3, residents of the Saugerties Central School District will go to the polls to vote on the proposed budget. In addition, voters will select three persons to occupy vacated seats on the school board for three year terms. The terms of Anthony Riozzi, Donald Calderwood and Charles Fous will expire this year.

Petitions must be filed by prospective candidates for the Board of Education by April 18. Information on petitions can be obtained at the offices of the Board of Education. Routine matters much of Monday's lengthy meeting of the school board.

Trip Slides Highlight Luncheon

SAUGERTIES

A covered dish luncheon and slides of a trip to Alaska were highlights of the recent meeting of the Handcraft Club of Saugerties.

The luncheon attended by 35 ladies, consisted of casseroles and salads prepared by club members.

The committee in charge was Bobbi Fuller, Mary Campbell, Muriel Kaminski, Margaret Murphy, and Mabel Rivenberg.

Plans for a bus trip to Sturbridge Village, Mass. were finalized. The trip will be taken on Thursday, May 11, leaving Saugerties at 9:30 a.m. But fare must be paid at the April 6 meeting.

The class on bologna and sausage will be conducted by Ella Whitaker on the morning of the April meeting at 10 a.m. Following the meeting one of the club members, Mrs. Marion Koniuk, showed colored slides of a Canadian trip taken by her and her husband John in the summer of 1971.

GOP Club Sets Session

SAUGERTIES

Saugerties Republican Club will hold its regular monthly meeting, Thursday, at 8 p.m., at the Mt. Marion Inn, Election District No. 10.

Club President, Mrs. Sally Colclough announced that guest speaker for the evening will be Republican County Legislator S. Robert Kelder, of Marletown (Dist. 2) chairman of the Young and Recreation Committee for the Ulster County Legislature. Kelder will discuss the highly successful "Youth in Government" program sponsored by this committee. It is anticipated that the young people involved in this program will also be present as guests of the Republican Club.

President Is Tabbed

SAUGERTIES

Larry Thornton was re-elected president of the Saugerties Democratic Club at a recent meeting held at the Sawyerkill Country Club.

Milton Sommers will serve as first vice-president, S. Morrow Decker, second vice-president, Mrs. Anthony Riozzi, treasurer and Mrs. Peter Karashay, secretary.

The annual Spring Dinner-Dance will be held Saturday, April 29 at the Flamingo, Rt. 9W, Barclay Heights.

Library Head Tabbed

WOODSTOCK
Walter Van Wagenen has accepted the chairmanship of the Woodstock Library Fair. He was president of the Library in 1947-48 and served as the fair's treasurer that year and was chairman of the fair in 1946. Billy Faier, who previously accepted this year's chairmanship, resigned for personal reasons, according to Carolyn Wilson, library publicity. The date for this year's fair is Friday, July 28.

Protection Becomes Reality

WOODSTOCK
Increased fire protection for the citizens of Willow, Lake Hill, and Shady became a reality with the purchase of another fire pumper by Woodstock Fire Company 3. The truck was obtained by the company with funds made available by interested citizens contacted yearly in the company's fund drive. It is expected to be placed in service within a few weeks. The truck is a 300 gallon pumper mounted on a four-wheel drive chassis with a front-mounted Daryl pump, carrying 400 gallons of water and the necessary fire equipment. Plans for an open house at the Lake Hill firehouse, Sunday, July 9, from 2 to 5 p.m. were discussed. All citizens are invited to visit the firehouse, inspect the equipment, and ask questions concerning procedures. Displays will include a portrayal of how an emergency alarm is sounded and help arrives at the source of trouble. Fire drills were announced for March 12 at 9:30 a.m. and March 29 at 7 p.m.

Rummage Sale Planned

WOODSTOCK
Plans for the annual Lake Hill Fire Auxiliary rummage sale scheduled for Saturday, July 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the fire house were arranged at a recent meeting. Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey, general chairman of the event, will be assisted by Mrs. Alfred Ostrander, Mrs. Louis Buscher, Mrs. Phillips Eighmey and Mrs. John Mergandahl. Other committees will be announced. A covered dish, family supper at the firehouse will be held Saturday, March 8 at 6 p.m. It is open to all active auxiliary members and firemen and their families. Participation in the Open House, listed by the fire company for Sunday, July 9 at the firehouse, was discussed. Ladies Auxiliary meetings are held the last Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. at the firehouse. Prospective members are invited to attend.

GOP Club Sets Meeting

The Woodstock Republican Club will hold its monthly meeting at Deane's Restaurant Thursday, March 16 at 8 p.m. President Robert Hanscom announced that Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and County Legislator William West are scheduled to attend. Assemblyman Bell will be installing the 1972 officers elected at the January meeting. He will also be discussing some of the important items currently before the Assembly. Legislator West will be reporting on legislative activity at the county level. Other items on the agenda will be a tentative planned year's program and a preliminary report on the spring dinner-dance. All members are encouraged to attend. All registered Republicans of Woodstock are invited to attend the meeting and to join the Republican Club.

Dinners Set

A series of Community Dinners catered by Nelson Shults will be held this year at the Overlook United Methodist Church. Featured on the menu, which is served family style, will be: barbequed sirloin on April 22, charcoal broiled steak on July 22, barbequed sirloin on Sept. 23 and oyster stew and baked ham on Oct. 20. In addition, chicken barbeque will be featured at the rummage sale on June 17.

Senior Meeting

The Senior Citizens Club of Woodstock will hold a regular meeting Thursday, March 16 at 1 p.m. at the Dutch Reformed Church Hall on the Village Green in Woodstock.

KUGELMAN, KOENIG AND SCHALLER, (L-R)

Lions Club Starts Donor Drive

KINGSTON Charles Schaller, chairman of the Blind and Sight Conservation Committee, said "The Donor Drive is not for financial donations, although contributions are not only gratefully received but are vitally needed by the Eye Bank. The current campaign is a drive to sign up eye donors, individuals who are willing to pledge their eyes, on death, for use in sight-restoring corneal transplant operations." Schaller also noted, "Those individuals whose blindness has been caused by damaged or diseased corneas can often be given restored sight through the transplanting of human eye tissue from the eyes of a recently deceased person."

Persons interested in willing their eyes to help combat blindness should contact any member of the Kingston Lions Club for an application form.

Over the past 18 years, some 70 persons have had their sight restored through the efforts of the Kingston Lions Club and area eye donors. According to Lions Club president Francis Kugelman Jr., the latest transplant occurred in February, when the eye tissue of a local donor was used to restore sight to two separate individuals.

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER gets representation from Kerry and Kenneth Pillsworth modeling here for Flahs in last night's Freeman fashion show given for the benefit of United Way of Ulster County. Despite the snowstorm, J.

Watson Bailey School auditorium was filled to capacity. It may have been winter outside, but fashion show enthusiasts had spring in their hearts. (Freeman photo by Haines)

MINI MODEL is escorted by Joan Conway, Freeman advertising coordinator for the 1972 Preview. Richard Treat, publisher, welcomed the capacity house and thanked all those who participated in the show including the 107 models and 43 stores in Ulster and Northern Dutchess Counties. Driven to Edge, He Pleads for Help!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 41-year-old man, and I feel like a jerk writing to you, but I have no one else to talk to, and I need some advice before I just drive my car off a cliff.

Over a year ago, my wife had an affair with a married man she works with. It was not her first, and I'm sure it won't be her last. I got fed up with her and her running around, and I finally got a divorce. (We have two kids who are living with me for good reasons.)

I really tried to work things out before divorcing her. That's how I met Lois. (She's the wife of the last guy my wife was fooling around with.) Well, to make a long story short, I dug Lois and Lois dug me. She has three kids, but she won't divorce her husband because she says it was his first offense, and he deserves another chance for the sake of their children.

I'll be honest with you. Lois and I have been having an affair. She says she loves me, but she can't divorce her husband.

Abby, I am crazy about Lois, and can't make it without her. Please tell me what to do.

GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Quit seeing Lois unless you want to wind up with another wife who cheats on her husband.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married only two months. We were very happy until yesterday when his ex-wife called to tell him she was pregnant and is naming him as the baby's father!

Abby, my husband is not the baby's father! He divorced her for running around with other men and leaving their two children alone.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

If this goes to court, can't a blood test prove for sure that my husband is not the father of her child? Please tell us the facts about blood tests. My husband is "O negative." We are frantic, but we are determined to fight this in court if it takes everything we have.

WEST COAST CASE

DEAR CASE: A blood test can only prove who the baby's father is not! If your husband is in fact not the baby's father, but the baby's father just happens to have had "O negative" blood type, nothing is proved.

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to tell you what she thought was a "cute" saying: "The neurotic builds dream castles. The psychotic lives in them, and the psychiatrist collects the rent."

Your reply was great! You said, "A competent psychiatrist doesn't collect the rent; instead he helps his patient find a dwelling he can live in. And his fee is more appropriately the cost of moving."

You couldn't have given her a better answer. I was in a psychiatric hospital for a short time recently, and am still under a psychiatrist's care. He has put me on the right track, and I now see a completely different side of life. The right side! I don't know what would have happened to me and my family I had not found him.

If more people who had serious problems would seek the help of a psychiatrist instead of hanging on to that almighty dollar, this would be a better world. I could never pay my doctor enough for what he has done for me.

Please, Abby, print this. It may help someone who needs psychiatric help, but hesitates to go because it's too "expensive."

A NEW PERSON

DEAR NEW: The person who admits he needs help is halfway cured. Thanks for writing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ON THE SIDELINES IN JERSEY": He's not your husband. You are only guessing. You have a business? Mind it!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Program of Sacred Music Scheduled at First Baptist Church

The Judson College Choir of Elgin, Ill., will present a program of sacred music at First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, Monday night, March 20, at 8 o'clock.

Announcement of the visiting college choir date was made known by the Rev.

Norman F. Bosat, pastor of First Baptist Church, who said the local appearance is one of 20 cities in eight different states during a 17-day tour.

The Rev. Mr. Bosat has issued a cordial invitation to the public to attend this outstanding presentation. There is no admission charge but he added that a free-will offering will be taken to help defray the expenses of the tour.

The choir will be conducted by Dr. Edward Thompson, chairman of the Judson Fine Arts Division. Dr. Thompson, who holds the doctor of Musical Arts degree from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, has directed the Judson Choir for the past eight years. During those eight years, his choirs have traveled extensively throughout the midwest and California. Two years ago the choir traveled to Haiti and Puerto Rico. Last May, they sang to more than 3,000 people on the street at the Minneapolis Plaza, Minneapolis, Minn.

The 45-member group will sing a variety of musical pieces ranging from 17th Century classical to contemporary Christian folk music. Featured a cappella selections include: In Mirth and Gladness by German composer Niedt and Hosanna by Scandinavian writer, Christiansen.

A full brass group will accompany the Easter Cantata by the contemporary composer, Daniel Pinkham. This Cantata depicts the Resurrection of Christ in a dramatic way and is climaxed by an exciting anthem of praise and celebration.

The choir will also sing a recently published piece by Otis Skillings called "Love," a sacred folk musical which describes God's love and our love for fellowman. Accompanying the work will be an ensemble of brass, guitars and percussion.

Another of the choir's selection is "Babel" by Gregg Smith, a well-known personality in the choral world. "Babel" uses an avant garde choral technique in which members of the choir have speaking rather than singing parts. This technique, consisting of short sentences spoken in various foreign languages, is symbolic of the break-up of languages according to the writings of the Old Testament. Making use of multiple choirs and sound separation, the choir will employ the concept of multi-dimensional music, producing a sound which originates from parts of an enclosure much like a stereo system. The audience is literally surrounded by sound.

Judson is a four year, Christian, liberal arts college situated along the west bank of the Fox River on a wooded, 65-acre site in Elgin, 40 miles from Chicago. Now beginning its eighth year, Judson maintains an affiliation with the American Baptist Convention.

Family History

What do your children know about your family's history? asks Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. Do you think it matters at all whether they grow up knowing more about their favorite recording star's or astronaut's family than they do their own?

In many families today, the father has a job that keeps the family on the move. This may give the child an opportunity to see other parts of the country and an exposure to other peoples' values and attitudes. Yet, it may also keep them from getting to know older family members who remember the good parts of the "good old days," and could tell children first hand experiences as surprising and interesting as they see on television.

Some of you have lived in this area all your lives and your parents before you. Do your children have any more knowledge of or interest in your family's past than more mobile families do? Sometimes we appreciate least the opportunities closest to us.

Family history has a very cold sound! Maybe it sounds too much like a required course rather than a fun family activity. Nevertheless, many families find that this is of interest to most children over nine or ten and nearly always to the parents! Children have access to excellent books that help them learn something about the attitude of people at the time that Great Uncle John went west with the Gold Rush and Grandma carried a picket sign and won the right to vote.

Ordinary happenings like all the neighbors coming to help Uncle Sam thresh wheat or Grandma getting a new-fangled washing machine to replace the tub and washboard may not mean much if you've never seen Uncle Sam or Grandma or a threshing machine or an old washing machine or washboard. Yet, as these are identified, the activities have more meaning.

What is the real value of helping children become interested in their family background? This may be one way to help children learn respect for their family and, as a consequence, greater respect for themselves. Among the hottest selling items in some large city antique stores are old family portraits of unknown people.

They wouldn't sell at all until a sharp advertiser put the sign in the window, "Instant Ancestors." Now they can't be kept in stock! Some people seem to be feeling a need to find out about their backgrounds but when they can't, they may invent the history they like.

We all have family history, but like the people buying "instant ancestors" we may not know much about it. Could you be missing the chance to pass on to your children and grandchildren information that can help you all have a greater interest in and respect for Family Life???

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint for all the secretaries who read your column on their coffee break as I do:

Keep a couple of facial tissues fastened to your steno book under the rubber band you use to hold the pages.

This saves you from having to interrupt your boss when he's dictating, because you must run out for a hanky.

Keep up the good work! I have a husband, four children and a five-bedroom house to take care of in my spare time, so I appreciate all the advice I can get.

Jan

Dear Heloise:

Here is a tasty surprise that I fix every so often for my family.

They dearly love gingerbread and especially my gingerbread surprise.

I bake the gingerbread in muffin tins. When it is done, I take it from the oven and using a small, sharp-pointed knife, I cut out the center of each one.

I fill the hole with blobs of cream cheese and jelly and then cover it up with the piece that I cut out.

It really has made a hit with my family and I think your family might enjoy it too.

A Reader

Dear Heloise:

When I mix putty I always keep it in a plastic bag between jobs.

It stays so nice and moist, never dries out between jobs, and, besides that, it's easy to knead and soften right in the bag.

There is no mess!

Saugerties Little Gardens Society Honors Charter Member, Jane Ziegler

Saugerties Society of Little Gardens met on Wednesday, Mar. 8, at the Methodist Church with Mrs. Whritenor, club president, presiding. Mrs. Brendan Dooley presented a gift to Miss Jane Ziegler in honor of her "Special Birthday". Miss Ziegler is a beloved member of the garden club. She is the only charter member and is also an honorary member of the club which was formed in 1924. Miss Ziegler attends faithfully and always has horticulture news and help for all members.

Mrs. Addison Burch was welcomed into the club as a new member. Mrs. Augustus Modjeska gave the conservation report. She noted it was the 100th Anniversary of the National Parks and that the future life of these parks would only be saved by rationing people. Mrs. Robert Freer submitted the horticulture report, stating that now was the time to report house plants and root cuttings from the larger plants.

Mrs. Whritenor reported the Steering Committee of the Mum Festival had requested the Garden Club to supervise a Flower Show to be held in the pavilion at Seamon Park during the Festival. The club would be responsible for preparing the schedule, accepting reservations and judging the show. The club voted to do this project as one of their civic activities. Mrs. Earl Moore is meeting with her committee to plan Arbor Day which will be April 28.

The program was presented by Mrs. Everett Landers of Kingston. Mrs. Landers is president of Little Gardens of Kingston and is Ulster County

Chairman for the Third District of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Inc. Mrs. Landers spoke on the Japanese Tea Ceremony and did several flower arrangements in the Japanese manner. Mrs. Landers went to Japan in 1956 and stayed for two years with her husband who was a naval officer stationed there. While waiting for base housing, she lived with the Japanese and learned much of their culture and saw how they strived to take advantage of every bit of nature they could. The Tea Ceremony was a custom of the Japanese people as early as 729. The utensils used for this ceremony and containers for the flower arrangements were brought back from Japan. To make her lecture more authentic, Mrs. Landers wore a blue print silk kimono with a red and white obi and red sandals.

The meeting adjourned with refreshments served by Mrs. Robert Finger, and Mrs. Robert Freer. The next meeting will be held March 22 at the Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m.

Special Folk Music Evening in Garrison

The Gallery at the Garrison Art Center will resound with the music of the psaltery, dulcimer, and guitar this Friday evening at 8:30, when a program of folk music, both traditional and contemporary, will be performed by Lyn Burnstine, Peter Rawson, and Steve Siktberg.

Lyn Burnstine, featured in the first half of the concert, accompanies her own charming singing with expert performing on the psaltery (a unique instrument mentioned in the Bible, and also popular in the Middle Ages) and the dulcimer. The two exquisitely silver-toned instruments she will play were created by Michael Autorino, who teaches the dulcimer-making workshop at the Art Center. Mrs. Burnstine's musical training includes extensive work in classical as well as folk music. She is well-known on the folk festival circuit, and also performs, with her husband Don Burnstine, their original ecumenical worship service called "The Heritage of American Sacred Folk music," which they have played in more than 25 churches. In addition, she is one of a trio of ladies called "The Merry Wives" who have delighted audiences in many Hudson Valley towns, and she and her husband are proprietors of a folk music coffeehouse in Poughkeepsie.

The second part of the evening will be given over to original songs by the talented young composer-performer, Peter Rawson, who will be accompanied by his equally talented partner, Steve Siktberg. Their instruments are acoustical guitars, and their songs display some lively new ways with folk music. Mr. Rawson is also the instructor in guitar courses offered at the Art Center.

This delightful musical program is a special feature of the Garrison Art Center's regular Friday evening series, and will be performed at 8:30 p.m., at the Center in Garrison. There is no admission charge, the public is invited, and coffee will be served as usual.

Organist Announced For Lenten Concert

Gloria Jean Clark will appear as organist when Mozart's "Requiem" is presented by the Massed Choir of the Kingston Area Council of Churches at the Union Lenten Service, Sunday, March 19, at the Fair Street Church.

This masterful work, beautifully written for full chorus and four soloists, has a demanding accompaniment requiring great dexterity of the organist.

Gloria Jean, organist at the Fair Street Church, has become well known for her artistic interpretation of religious works. Her competence and mastery at the console will be a formidable compliment to this fine work.

A student of Raymond C. Corey, she became church organist for the Reformed Church of the Comforter at the age of 14. Following graduation from high school, she continued her studies at the Julliard School of Music where she majored in Organ and Church Music. She later studied with Capt. Davis at the famed West Point organ.

A member of the American Guild of Organists, she has served numerous local churches. Since she has been at Fair Street Church, she has presented two recitals, both of which were well received by the public. The Lenten service at the Fair Street Church will afford everyone an opportunity of listening to an evening of inspirational music.

Emerald grapefruit salad mold adds color and taste to any meal.

A Touch of Green for St. Pat's

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Add a touch of the green for St. Patrick's Day or to celebrate spring in the form of an Emerald Grapefruit Salad mold. Grapefruit sections and cream cheese balls in gelatin combine for a refreshing addition to any meal. Top with a special Florida French dressing. These are recipes that bear repeating because the fresh color and tart taste complement any main dish.

Emerald Grapefruit Salad Mold

One package (Three ounces) cream cheese
Two packages (three ounces each) lime-flavored gelatin
One cup boiling water
Three cups grapefruit juice (One six-ounce can frozen concentrate, reconstituted)

Three cups Florida grapefruit sections*, divided
One-quarter cup diced pimiento

Salad green*
Allow cream cheese to soften at room temperature. Form into eight small balls; chill in refrigerator. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add grapefruit juice and mix well. Chill until slightly thickened. Arrange a few of the grapefruit sections, cream cheese balls, and pieces of pimiento in a five cup ring mold to make an attractive design. Spoon a little of the chilled gelatin and chill until almost firm. Chill remaining gelatin until the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in one and one-half cups grapefruit sections and remaining pimiento. Spoon into mold; chill until firm. Unmold and fill center with salad greens, remaining grapefruit sections and cream cheese balls. Makes eight servings.

(To section Florida grapefruit, cut slice from top and then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom. Or cut off peel in one long strip, spiral fashion. Remove any remaining white membrane carefully from fruit. Cut along each dividing membrane from outside to center of core — and remove sections one at a time over bowl to retain juice.)

Florida French Dressing

One cup Florida grapefruit juice, divided
Two teaspoons cornstarch
Two tablespoons salad oil
Three-quarter teaspoon salt
One teaspoon sugar
One-half teaspoon paprika

One-half teaspoon dry mustard

One-quarter teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

One-quarter cup catsup

Blend one-half cup of the grapefruit juice and cornstarch in saucepan, cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; add remaining grapefruit juice. Combine ingredients; add cornstarch mixture and beat with rotary beater until smooth. Cover and store in refrigerator. Shake well before using. Makes one and one-quarter cups dressing.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Children are a joy and a blessing, but they are often a problem too! Many a neighborhood feud has started because the little boy next door stepped on Mrs. Gardenlover's flowers, or the girl down the street invariably blows her horn for her friend when Mrs. Restabed is taking a nap.

How would you handle the following situations? Rate your neighborhood popularity score by how many answers you choose correctly.

1. Q. The little boy next door has started throwing stones at your son. Would you:

(a) Tell your son to throw back?

(b) Call the offender's mother and tell her you'll call the police if it doesn't stop?

(c) Suggest to your son that he stay away from the boy and play with other friends for the time being?

A. (c) The first two courses will only provoke more trouble.

2. Q. The teenagers in the apartment overhead are singing, dancing, stomping and shouting at two in the morning. Should you:

(a) Call them on the phone, and ask them if they would tone it down a little so you can sleep?

(b) Call the police?

(c) Go up and tell them to quiet down in person?

A. (a) Be as reasonable as you can. If you don't get any cooperation, you may have to call the police, but that should only be a last resort.

3. Q. Your four-year-old, Sue, is the only child on the block not invited to Mary's birthday party. Should you:

(a) Call Mary's mother and drop a hint by saying you understand Mary will be five next week?

(c) Refuse to let Sue play with Mary any more?

(c) Assume it was an oversight and arrange something else for Sue to do the day of the party?

A. (c) Sue is too young to feel slighted, as long as she has something "fun" to do herself.

4. Q. One of Jane's male classmates has brought a bottle of liquor to her sweet-sixteen party. He and a few friends are caught sneaking out for a drink in the garage. Should you:

(a) Take the bottle and give it back to him after the party?

(b) Take the bottle away and let his parents know about it?

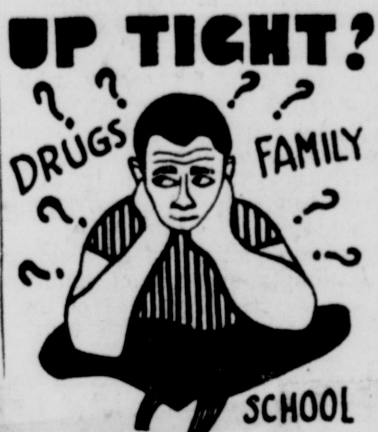

(c) Send the boy who brought the bottle home?

A. (b) Sixteen is under the legal drinking age, and the boy's parents should know that he has gotten hold of some liquor. It is up to them to take further steps.

Southern Idaho Rally Beats Ulster, 85-75

Senators Blow 16-Point Lead

By STEVE KANE

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Ulster County Community College's basketball team blew a 16-point halftime lead in the first round of the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament here Tuesday night and moved into the losers' bracket after bowing to College of Southern Idaho, 85-75.

Little Victor Kelly, the Eagles' 5-6 backcourt whiz, totaled 38 points and led a second half rally that finally caught the Senators with 7:33 left in the game.

"We didn't get the ball to Link," sighed a disappointed Ulster Coach Mike Perry.

He was right—Coleman Link helped Ulster to its 47-31 half-time advantage with a 16-point barrage and good work under the boards. But the big center could manage only seven in the final stanza.

Ulster started out with the control and precision that had won them the Region XV championship in New York City. Balanced shooting and some smart defensive plays enabled the Senators to pull away from Idaho despite the size advantage of Dan Dessen in the middle. When the Eagles got confused and disorganized, the resulting turnovers made the Ulster bubble bigger.

It was too good to be true. Idaho opened the second half by scoring six straight points including the first technical foul of the tournament called on Perry. Jackie Knowles and Nelson Marcelle, in the Ulster backcourt, started forcing shots to catch up.

"Knowles and Nelson got carried away," Perry said. "And Koola gave us nothing."

With Kelly making shots from all over the court, the Eagles steadily closed the gap while the Senators were missing countless opportunities to hang on.

Idaho had sliced it to 10 and had all the momentum it needed, when Henry Nixon drew a foul. He missed both tries and Koola hacked an Eagle-eight points.

Walter Lloyd gave Marcelle a rest, stole the ball and headed downtown on a break. Lloyd blew the layup and committed an offensive foul in the process—6 points.

A few minutes later, Kelly's jumper gave Idaho the lead for the first time in the game, 64-63. Nixon and Gary McDonald kept things close for a while, but the Eagles were red hot. Gene Sobers joined forces with Kelly and the two New York transplants shot the Senators out of the gym.

With two minutes left to go, Nixon drew his fifth foul and left the game. Kelly's conversion boosted the lead up to five and he added a three point play an instant later to break the bubble for good.

Nixon followed Link in the Ulster scoring with 17 points and Marcelle added 15. Sobers notched 19 for Idaho.

The reasons for Ulster's collapse were many. An attitude of nonchalance prevailed during all the Senator practice sessions, a situation aggravated by the big halftime lead. Fat, cocky, call it what you like, chances are that Vassar could have held its own in the last 20 minutes.

Knowles seemed slightly by the attention given Kelly and was driven to put on a show of his own. All of Jack's pretty moods didn't help the cause a bit.

"It takes two halves," said a rueful Perry. The Senators learned that the hard way.

Thursday at 6 p.m. Ulster meets Hutchinson, the host team. The Senators will have a shot at fifth place in the tournament, but they need two straight to get it.

Casper College of Casper, Wyo., led off the tournament with a 79-65 victory over State Fair CC of Sedalia, Mo. They take on Gulf Coast Community, upset winners over No. 2 ranked Dalton, Georgia, 78-69. Dalton and State Fair will meet in the losers bracket.

Paducah, Kentucky looked impressive in a win over highly regarded Arizona-Western, 87-78. The Indians will face Vincennes, the nation's No. 1 team in the next round. Erie Tech fell to Vincennes, 107-83, the 30th team to do this year.

The remainder of the first round contests continue tomorrow with Seminole, Oklahoma meeting Burlington, Iowa. Seminole is No. 6 nationally, but Burlington earned its way to the tourney by defeating Ellsworth, last year's champions here.

Tyler, Texas opposes Robert Morris of Carthage, Ill. in the final match.

And the tallest thing in sight were the grain silos that occasionally passed by the open windows.

Pete Koola was afraid to walk on the streets because a tall, Texan type had called him a hippie in the Wichita airport.

Playing basketball was the farthest thing from their minds. They had been sentenced to spend eight days in a town where all the streets could be walked in 20 minutes.

Ferrum, Va. staged a steady scoring rally in the second half to dump host Hutchinson 82-72 in their first round game.

Bobby Joe Jackson's 34 points for Hutchinson was not enough to turn back Ferrum, which overcame a 46-41 halftime deficit.

Thus far in the tournament, Victor Kelly has been the tournament's most outstanding performer. The Eagles were runnersup here last year and Kelly's play makes it easy to understand why.

Way back in New York all the chaos started early Sunday morning when a car broke down and stranded three of the Senators. Only the varied skills of Mike (A.J.) Perry got the team to the gate just at takeoff time.

Up front in first class the Phoenix Suns were sound sleep. They did this all the time. The coach compartment, however, was quite another story. Eight of the Senator contingent had never been aboard a plane before, and a few were taking things hard. Henry Nixon and Jack Knowles were both white as a sheet, figuratively speaking, of course.

The landing at O'Hare was nothing short of trauma.

The second leg of the plane trip was tiring and no less nerve-wracking. Then came the yellow school bus and the drive through the pastures.

Late Sunday night in Hutchinson's Hilton, reality began to dawn on the Stone Ridge Senators. They started talking about the tournament, the arena and their first opponents. It was probably fortunate that Ulster arrived here two days before their first game. It will give them time to settle down to business.

The landing at O'Hare was nothing short of trauma.

The second leg of the plane trip was tiring and no less nerve-wracking. Then came the yellow school bus and the drive through the pastures.

Late Sunday night in Hutchinson's Hilton, reality began to dawn on the Stone Ridge Senators. They started talking about the tournament, the arena and their first opponents. It was probably fortunate that Ulster arrived here two days before their first game. It will give them time to settle down to business.

Way back in New York all the chaos started early Sunday morning when a car broke down and stranded three of the Senators. Only the varied skills of Mike (A.J.) Perry got the team to the gate just at takeoff time.

Up front in first class the Phoenix Suns were sound sleep. They did this all the time. The coach compartment, however, was quite another story. Eight of the Senator contingent had never been aboard a plane before, and a few were taking things hard. Henry Nixon and Jack Knowles were both white as a sheet, figuratively speaking, of course.

Wooden Produces Another Star Crop

NEW YORK (UPI)—When it comes to producing All-Americans, only Bert Parks can outdo John Wooden.

Wooden, coach of the powerful UCLA Bruins, has developed more All-America basketball players over the past nine years than any other coach, and this season he has reached a milestone with the selection of two Bruins to the 1971-72 United Press International All-American team.

Sophomore center Bill Walton and senior guard Henry Bibby are the UCLA stars honored this year with All-America status, and they are joined on the first team by Dwight Lamar of Southwestern Louisiana, Jim Chones of Marquette and Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State.

Not since 1963 when Tom Thacker and Ron Bonham of Cincinnati were selected to the first team have two players from the same school been so honored. It also marks the seventh time in the last nine years that UCLA has placed a player on the All-America first team.

UCLA's previous All-America selections include Walt Hazzard (1964), Gail Goodrich (1965), Lew Alcindor (1967-68-69) and Sidney Wicks (1971).

Walton and Bibby were the top vote-getters in this year's voting conducted of 232 sports writers and sportscasters from across the nation. Walton received 408 points, Bibby 248, Lamar 228, Chones 216 and Ratleff 200 in the voting. Voters were asked to choose two teams with two points awarded for a first team selection and one point for second team mention.

Named to the second team were Tom Riker of South Carolina, Barry Parkhill of Virginia, Allan Hornyak of Ohio State, Robert McAdoo of North Carolina and Jim Price of Louisville.

Henry Wilmore of Michigan, Tom McMillen of Maryland, Kresimir Cosic of Brigham Young, Paul Westphal of Southern California and Brian Taylor of Princeton were selected to the third team.

Walton, the only sophomore named to the first team, was the most dominating first-year player on the college basketball scene since Alcindor. The 19-year-old redhead from La Mesa, Calif., averaged better than 21 points and 15 rebounds a game even though he seldom played an entire game as a starter. Wooden repeatedly pulled his starting players once a game was well in hand.

A fine shooter with excellent moves, the 6-11 Walton was even more menacing on defense and forced teams to do most of their shooting from the outside. He also was adept at throwing the outlet pass off a rebound, and this was responsible for triggering the UCLA fast break. Bibby, a starter on the Bruins' last two NCAA championship teams, matured into a fine all-around player this season and drew lavish praise from Wooden for his defense and hustle. The 6-1 guard averaged nearly 16 points per game and was the key man in the Bruins' full-court press defense.

Lamar, a 6-1 guard, is the first player ever to make All-America in both the small and major college divisions. As a sophomore last season Lamar led the nation's small colleges in scoring and was named to the college division All-America team. This season Southwestern Louisiana joined the major college ranks and Lamar proved he could play with the

The results: Rusty Russell (8-under), 25 free, 16.2; 25 back, 19.3; 25 butterfly, 21.6.

Koegel Leads Sawyer Squad

SAUGERTIES Tom Whitaker backed Koegel up in the scoring race with 303 points. His 149 rebounds also were second to Koegel's totals. The Sawyers won 10 of their 19 games and averaged 66.1 points per game in doing so. Saugerties opened with five straight wins before leveling off at mid-season. The stats:

Rich Koegel's value to the Saugerties High School basketball team can be reflected in the squad's final statistics released this week. Koegel, who Sunday was named as the Freeman's high school basketball Player of the Year, scored 403 points in 19 games for an average of 21.2 each outing. He tallied 148 field goals for 289 attempts, a superb 51 per cent and 107 free throws out of 160 tries (67 per cent). The 6-3 senior pulled down 345 rebounds (that's 18.2 per contest), and even handed out 47 assists. Only in the latter department did he have to take second place to a Sawyer mate as Ray Bean recorded 53 assists.

Pay Me or Trade Me—Richie Allen

(By Associated Press) — Allen whizzed in and out of a than we will pay," reported attraction to sell tickets. He felt, That sort of left matters at over the St. Louis Cardinals, who needs Allen?

Richie Allen wants to be brief meeting with General Holcomb, who traded pitcher it would be the same way in an impasse, because Allen left the Sox' hotel carrying a suitcase and said: "We're miles apart. Nowhere close. I'm not going to talk to Holcomb any more. There's no use."

The controversial slugger, down an estimated $125,000 contract, asked to be traded and another club. "One of his complaints was that over the last few years in St. Louis and Los Angeles he was just being used as a gate puller for the Sox' hotel carrying a suitcase and said: "We're miles apart. Nowhere close. I'm not going to talk to Holcomb any more. There's no use."

The White Sox got from Stan Bahnsen and two relievers in Tuesday's 4-0 exhibition victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, who needs Allen?

And according to the Texas Rangers, no one needs Frank Howard, either. The large slugger returned his estimated $100,000 contract unsigned and owner Bob Short said, "That's it as far as the Rangers are concerned."

"We've exhausted all avenues of trade for Howard," manager Ted Williams disclosed. "No one apparently needs his services."

Home runs are Howard's department and the Rangers got them from Lenny Randle and Elliott Maddox but still dropped a 6-5 decision to the Baltimore Orioles, who got a three-run shot from rookie Jim Fuller.

The Chicago Cubs scored all their runs in a wild third inning—Ron Santo contributed his second spring homer and a two-run double—and defeated Oakland 7-4. Eleven of the Cubs' 15

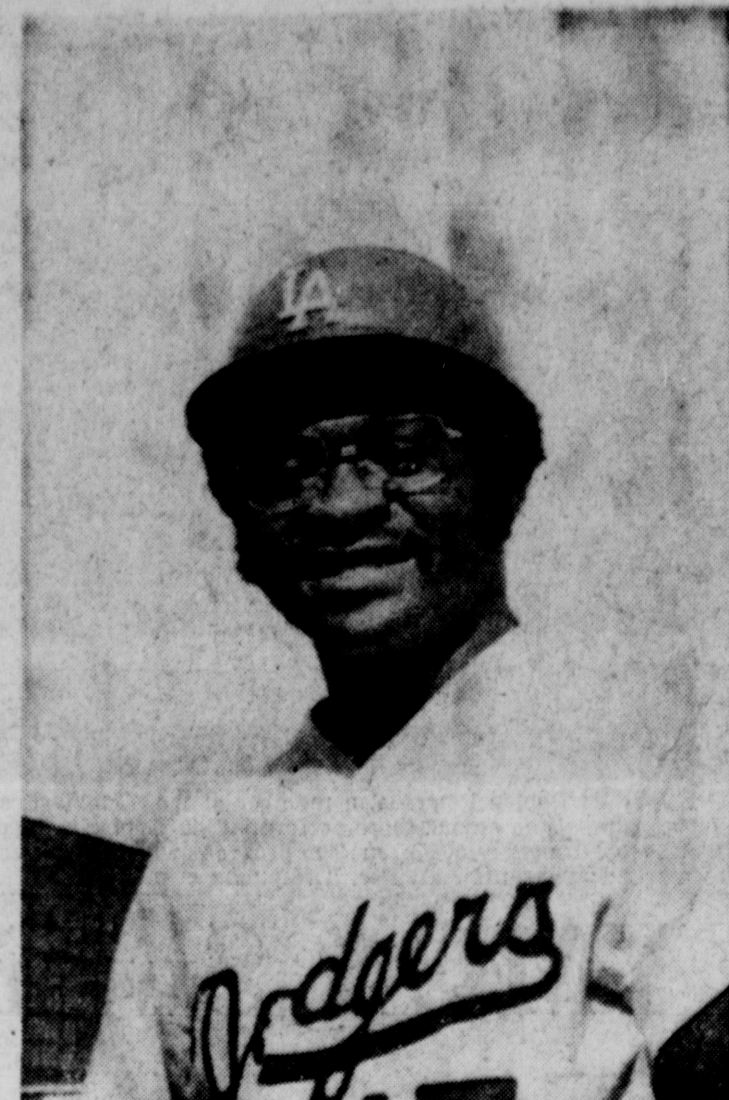

Slick-fielding Bud Harrelson hits came off Catfish Hunter, committed two costly errors—each permitted a run to score—and the Cincinnati Reds edged the New York Mets 4-3. The New York Yankees dropped a 5-4 decision to Montreal when Mike Marshall put down a ninth-inning uprising.

Mickey Stanley belted a two-run inside-the-park homer and an RBI triple and Ike Brown also homered as the Detroit Tigers downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-5. California edged San Francisco 5-4 on Bruce Christensen's sacrifice fly in the 11th inning.

Reggie Smith hit a two-run homer in Boston's 10-5 trouncing of Houston. Steve Carlton hurled five strong innings—one run, two hits—as Philadelphia turned back Kansas City 7-4.

Larry Stahl singled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of San Diego's 3-1 triumph over Milwaukee. George Stone, Jimmy Freeman and Russ Dillon scattered six hits as Atlanta shaded Minnesota 3-1.

The Tokyo Lotte Orions of the Japanese League scored four runs in the eighth inning—the winner crossed on third baseman Kurt Bevacqua's error—and nipped Cleveland 4-3.

Lakers — The Best Roadrunners

By United Press International — The Los Angeles road show is the hit of the National Basketball Association season. The Lakers set a league record with its 29th road victory by beating the Detroit Pistons 129-116 Tuesday night. The mark, sure to be improved for Detroit as the Pistons lost their ninth consecutive game, a club record.

In other NBA action, Seattle upset Chicago 115-111, Boston downed Golden State 124-110, New York trounced Atlanta 115-107, Cleveland dropped Baltimore 127-118 in overtime, Buffalo edged Philadelphia 108-105 and Milwaukee beat Portland 109-98.

Lee Winfield, averaging 9.6 a game, scored 38 points for Seattle as the SuperSonics closed to within one game of Golden State in the race for the remaining berth in the Pacific Division. Chet Walker topped Chicago with 37 points.

John Havlicek became the first player in Boston Celtic history to score 17,000 points in a career as he tallied 38 to push his NBA total to 17,022. The victory cut the Boston magic number for clinching the Atlantic Division title to two. Nate Thurmond kept Golden State in the game with a 35-point effort.

Walt Frazier and Dick Barnett each scored 22 points as New York beat Atlanta. The loss kept the Hawks five points behind first-place Baltimore in the Central Division. Walt Bellamy paced Atlanta with 26 points.

Baltimore, despite its loss to Cleveland, cut its number for clinching the Central title to four. Archie Clark scored 31 points for the Bullets, but it didn't help as the Cavaliers beat Baltimore for the fifth straight time this season behind Austin Carr's 33 points.

Elmore Smith, Buffalo's 7-foot candidate for Rookie of the Year honors, scored 33 points and collected 24 rebounds against Philadelphia. Smith's jump shot with 90 seconds left proved to be the insurance basket. Fred Carter led the 76ers with 26 points.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 36 points and set three club records as he led the Bucks past Portland. Jabbar now holds club records for most points in a season, most field goals attempted and most field goals made. Sidney Wicks has 28 to lead the Trail P

British Find Way To Shackle Naples

LONDON (UPI)—Jose Napoles arrived Tuesday from Mexico to defend his world welterweight title against British champion Ralph Charles, and had difficulty even getting into the country.

Napoles, who does not speak English, was detained at Immigration Control for an hour before a work permit was produced for his fight at Wembley March 28.

By the time his British agent Bobby Diamond was located to sort out the misunderstanding, Naples and his manager Coucou Conde were fuming with anger.

"What a way to treat a champion," Conde shouted at Diamond tried to explain he was waiting all the time at another immigration desk with the work permit.

The affair ended with Naples sulking and scowling, Conde and Diamond still arguing and newsmen unable to talk to any of them.

Napoles waved away photographers and refused to put on a Mexican sombrero.

But the 31-year-old Cuban-born fighter, nicknamed "Man-lacula"—butler smooth—had cooled down by the time he reached his hotel. He cleaned out the souvenir card shop, buying 110 and ordering another 500.

He has a lot of friends back home besides his family," Conde explained.

It's the first trip this side of the Atlantic for Naples who has lost only five of 68 contests, and four of those defeats were quickly avenged.

Napoles' only defeat since 1966 was when American Billy Backus stopped him in a world title bout at Syracuse in December 1970. Four months later the Mexico City-based fighter regained the title by stopping Backus in eight rounds and last December he successfully defended against Hedgemon Lewis.

His British challenger, rated seventh in the World Boxing Council's (WBC) rankings, was 29 last month. Charles has a reputation as a hard puncher and 33 of his 39 victories have come inside the distance, against three defeats in a 42-fight record.

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Monday, Naples was scheduled to fight for a world title.

Proclaim Wildlife Week

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Film star-ecologist Robert Redford has been named National Chairman of the 35th annual National Wildlife Week, March 19-25, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and its state affiliates.

The 1972 Wildlife Week theme, "Ecology: A Wild Idea," focuses on the fact that wildlife is a part of the environmental crisis and is dependent upon quality natural surroundings.

The bald eagle, emblem of the United States, is in serious trouble. Its plight symbolizes the fate of 100 other American wildlife species threatened by extinction due to man's interference with the natural world.

"The bald eagle is more than a decoration for dollar bills, postage stamps and commercial advertising," Redford said. "It is a symbol of strength, freedom and quality of life."

"It may be a wild idea to believe that we can reverse environmental destruction to protect the bald eagle and create a quality life for man, but this country was founded on the wild idea of independence," Redford goes on. "And not so long ago a wild idea took us to the moon. Ecology is another wild idea that will work."

Testimony to Begin In Heroin Death Case

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Testimony was to begin today in the trial of a 34-year-old man charged with murder in the heroin overdose death of a high school senior.

Clifford Johnson, 34, is charged in the death of Deborah Dalonzo, 17, whose body was found in a parking lot Oct. 8.

A coroner's report said a heroin overdose was the cause of death, and a grand jury indicted Johnson, alleging he sold the heroin which killed the girl.

The case represents the first time a murder charges involving a heroin overdose has

Raiders Finish With 14-1

SAUGERTIES over Ethan Allen Bus Line in the Raiders closed out the regular campaign with five wins in double figures. Mike Strohsahl scored 23 points while teammate Craig Burkhardt hit 21 and grabbed 20 rebounds in Naccarato's triumph over Mahogany Ridge.

Joe Evans almost pulled it out for the losers by scoring 35 points, 25 in the first half, but a final quarter surge lifted Naccarato to victory and a one-game edge on last-place Mahogany in the standings.

The Irish moved into a third place tie with Foster's Coach House by riding newly acquired Saugerties High star Tom Whittaker's 35 points to a win.

A strong second quarter in which the Irish ran off 28 straight points, 19 by Whittaker, was the difference.

Dave Kane scored 26 for Foster's.

The league's playoffs begin Saturday with Allen's meeting Foster's at noon and the Raiders taking on the Irish at 2 p.m.

While the Raiders won most of the games, Allen's took home the bulk of the individual honors. Frank Allen won his third scoring title in four years with 358 points, an average of 23.9 per contest. Don Komosa was the rebounding leader with 224 and Rod Chando led in assists with 49.

Ron Miller of Foster's broke up the monopoly with a 76.0 foul shooting percentage.

Gritmon polled nine votes in the MVP race and was named for the Bill Straub Award. Chando had eight, Allen four, Ron Thomas four, Evans two, Jack Keenan two, Komosa two, Larry Marcus, one and Hawkins one.

Mean Trick on TV Viewers

NEW YORK (AP) — The network programmers of NBC and ABC played a mean trick on the viewers Tuesday night. With most programs on reruns, two special shows of more than ordinary interest were competing.

ABC presented a 90-minute live report of the annual Grammy awards, the recording industry's equivalent of the Oscar and the Emmy, and had top musical talent performing the hits of the year. During most of that time, NBC was broadcasting the first half of the 1961 musical hit "West Side Story." There was no way to catch both.

The awards program stuffed with star-spangled names, rolled off smoothly and professionally. The 90 minutes even had more entertainment than statue-presenting. As far as production values went, it was tastefully done, but it is almost impossible to do much when the entertainment is a parade of performers.

The thank-you speeches were held to a merciful few seconds; the envelope-openers were rationed on those cue-card quips; Andy Williams, as host, ran a tight ship with easy good humor.

Broadway's Tony Awards are still the most stimulating for the television watchers, but the Grammy shows are in second place. If the Oscar and Emmy programs would cut down the number of on-camera presentations and control the thank-you speeches, they would be vastly improved. Grammy statutes were passed out in only a dozen categories during the 90 minutes although a number of other persons were honored off camera.

There was even time for the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences to present some special awards. They went to Leonard Bernstein, the Beatles, the late Mahalia Jackson and Louis Armstrong.

NBC plans to return to a weekly hour of actuality programming beginning in early September. NBC News President Reuben Frank announced the series would be seen Tuesday nights from 10 to 11 with the title "NBC Reports."

The network's present two-hour once-a-month program, "Chronolog," will be pruned to one hour and given back its original title, "First Tuesday." It will fill the hour once a month. Also occupying the time slot will be occasional "White Paper" treatments and special investigative reports, plus a 13-part series called "America," to be seen on alternate weeks starting in mid-November.

28 Reds Killed In Viet Highlands

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese Communist attack on name paratroopers turned back two more attacks by members of the North Vietnamese Army's (NVA) elite 320th Division on Rocky Hill 421 today, killing at least 28 Communists in one three-hour fight.

Field reports said the South Vietnamese suffered two wounded in a dawn battle and reported only "light" casualties in a pre-dawn mortar and ground attack.

In Saigon, the U.S. command said it was deactivating 42 Army and Air Force units comprising 5,700 men. It was the largest single "standdown" since 42 units composed of 6,100 men were deactivated last July.

The fight on Hill 421 in the central highlands involved more than 300 South Vietnamese paratroopers and an undetermined number of men from the NVA "Steel Division" — the group that defeated the French at Dien Bien Phu 18 years ago.

South Vietnamese opened the battle two days ago, killing 65 NVA members at a cost of eight paratroopers wounded.

Since the fighting started, the South Vietnamese reported killing 115 Communists while losing four dead and 15 wounded. The casualties included 22 guerrillas killed in brief skirmishes in the same general area of Hill 421 during the day Tuesday.

In the air war, Thailand-based B52 bombers pounded the route for a 50,000-man, four-pronged South Vietnamese drive into Eastern Cambodia designed to break up a report-

Jet Crashes With 112 Aboard

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — A chartered jetliner with 112 persons aboard crashed Tuesday in the mountains 40 miles east of the Persian Gulf city of Dubai. One man managed to walk to a nearby fishing village, rescue officials said today, but there were no signs of other survivors.

The twin-jet Caravelle owned by Denmark's Sterling Airways and chartered by the Tjaerebog Travel Agency of Copenhagen crashed while coming in for a landing in bad weather at Dubai Airport. It was en route from Colombo, Ceylon, to Copenhagen.

Another Name at ITT Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — For more than a half hour in 1970, phone & Telegraph Corp. for more than a half hour in 1970, but did not discuss the government's antitrust suits against the conglomerate. Mitchell answered questions quietly and with a lawyer's precision during the eighth day of hearings by the Senate Judiciary Committee into suggestions that Justice Department officials acted improperly in the out-of-court settlement of the ITT case last summer. Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst asked the committee for the hearings after the suggestions were published by syndicated columnist Jack Anderson. Kleindienst's nomination to replace Mitchell as attorney general is pending in the Senate. Anderson published a memorandum in which Dita D. Beard and ITT lobbyist, linked the antitrust settlement with ITT's purported $400,000 financial guarantee for the Republican National Convention. Mrs. Beard is suffering from a heart ailment and is hospitalized in Denver. Committee members indicated some of them will travel to Colorado next week to take her testimony. Mitchell, who resigned March 1 to head President Nixon's reelection campaign, said he has never discussed the ITT case with Flanigan, whom Anderson has described as Nixon's ambassador to big business. "Surely if that case would have been discussed, I would have remembered because I disqualified myself from it," Mitchell said. Mitchell has testified that he was not involved in the three antitrust suits against ITT because his old law firm had done some work for one of the conglomerate's subsidiaries. He said he turned the case over to Kleindienst, then deputy attorney general. The former attorney general said Flanigan, a New York financial consultant before joining the administration, was not involved in the actual settlement of the ITT case. Under persistent questioning from Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., about the propriety of Flanigan's role, Mitchell replied: "If you mean contact a financial adviser who worked for the Justice Department before and he (Flanigan) was a conduit for the information, it was perfectly all right." Democrats have said they want Flanigan, who hired Richard J. Ramsden to make the financial report on ITT, to come before the committee to explain his role. But the White House has indicated executive privilege would be invoked to keep him off Capitol Hill. Mitchell said he met Geneen socially at the White House on May 27, 1970, at a dinner for business leaders and then in the attorney general's office for 35 minutes on Aug. 4, 1970.

Angela Davis Trial... All-White Jury Selected

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — With surprising speed, a jury has been selected and sworn for the trial of black militant Angela Davis. She is charged with murder, kidnaping and conspiracy in the 1970 San Rafael Courthouse shootout in which a judge and three others were killed. Her attorneys say they accepted an all-white jury because there was no chance of getting a black juror on the panel.

Prosecutor Albert Harris Jr., noting that the panel of eight women and four men includes a Mexican-American, labeled it a truly untrue defense charges that the state would accept only an all-white jury. Both sides surprised newsmen and court spectators Tuesday by accepting a jury after only nine days of jury selection. The attorneys had predicted earlier that the job would take five or six weeks — and the defense had questioned whether it would ever find 12 people to determine Miss Davis' guilt or innocence.

Miss Davis, a Communist party member, faced the men and women who will judge her and announced the defense's acceptance of the panel. She said: "Although I cannot say that this is a jury of my peers, after much discussion we have reached the conclusion that the women and men sitting on this jury will put forth their best efforts to give me a fair trial." Harris then announced the prosecution's acceptance of the panel. He said later that both sides had agreed to accept the jury during a private 45-minute session in the chambers of Superior Court Judge Richard E. Arnason.

Immediately after Arnason swore in the jurors, the attorneys started the process of selecting four alternates. This is expected to take the rest of the week.

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese Communist attack on name paratroopers turned back two more attacks by members of the North Vietnamese Army's (NVA) elite 320th Division on Rocky Hill 421 today, killing at least 28 Communists in one three-hour fight.

Field reports said the South Vietnamese suffered two wounded in a dawn battle and reported only "light" casualties in a pre-dawn mortar and ground attack.

In Saigon, the U.S. command said it was deactivating 42 Army and Air Force units comprising 5,700 men. It was the largest single "standdown" since 42 units composed of 6,100 men were deactivated last July.

The fight on Hill 421 in the central highlands involved more than 300 South Vietnamese paratroopers and an undetermined number of men from the NVA "Steel Division" — the group that defeated the French at Dien Bien Phu 18 years ago.

South Vietnamese opened the battle two days ago, killing 65 NVA members at a cost of eight paratroopers wounded.

Since the fighting started, the South Vietnamese reported killing 115 Communists while losing four dead and 15 wounded. The casualties included 22 guerrillas killed in brief skirmishes in the same general area of Hill 421 during the day Tuesday.

In the air war, Thailand-based B52 bombers pounded the route for a 50,000-man, four-pronged South Vietnamese drive into Eastern Cambodia designed to break up a report-by syndicated columnist Jack Anderson. Kleindienst's nomination to replace Mitchell as attorney general is pending in the Senate. Anderson published a memorandum in which Dita D. Beard and ITT lobbyist, linked the antitrust settlement with ITT's purported $400,000 financial guarantee for the Republican National Convention. Mrs. Beard is suffering from a heart ailment and is hospitalized in Denver. Committee members indicated some of them will travel to Colorado next week to take her testimony. Mitchell, who resigned March 1 to head President Nixon's reelection campaign, said he has never discussed the ITT case with Flanigan, whom Anderson has described as Nixon's ambassador to big business. "Surely if that case would have been discussed, I would have remembered because I disqualified myself from it," Mitchell said. Mitchell has testified that he was not involved in the three antitrust suits against ITT because his old law firm had done some work for one of the conglomerate's subsidiaries. He said he turned the case over to Kleindienst, then deputy attorney general. The former attorney general said Flanigan, a New York financial consultant before joining the administration, was not involved in the actual settlement of the ITT case. Under persistent questioning from Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., about the propriety of Flanigan's role, Mitchell replied: "If you mean contact a financial adviser who worked for the Justice Department before and he (Flanigan) was a conduit for the information, it was perfectly all right." Democrats have said they want Flanigan, who hired Richard J. Ramsden to make the financial report on ITT, to come before the committee to explain his role. But the White House has indicated executive privilege would be invoked to keep him off Capitol Hill. Mitchell said he met Geneen socially at the White House on May 27, 1970, at a dinner for business leaders and then in the attorney general's office for 35 minutes on Aug. 4, 1970.
